Chart Can Tell You Plenty!

Worried about what your tax bill will amount to this year?

Of course you know it's going up, for a variety of reasons — increase in assessed valuation of your property, increased spending on the part of governmental subdivisions serving you, etc.

Well, the above chart may give you some idea of why your taxes are going up.

If you look at it closely, you will see that the budgets, as well as the tax rates of many of the special districts serving you, are listed.

Also listed is the rate of change in the tax rate of each district.

ALL TAX RATE figures are listed per $100 assessed valuation.

The chart shows many interesting things. Some districts obviously are trying to keep expenses within line, and thus save the taxpayers money.

A good example of this is the Orinda Fire District. Take a look at the chart and this is what it will show you for this district.

The tax rate this year will be 20 cents below what it was last year, per $100 assessed valuation.

Will this save the taxpayers in the district actual money?

YOU CAN TELL, by looking at columns four and seven, that the assessed valuation has gone up tremendously . . . some $8 million.

This is due to the county reassessment program in the Orinda area. It means that most property owners in this district will be paying much higher taxes as a whole because the average reassessment was some 30 per cent higher.

But instead of taking advantage of this "windfall" and maintaining the same $1.10 tax rate as previously, the Orinda Fire District cut its tax rate in anticipation of added funds coming in due to the increase in assessed valuation.

The figure which is really pertinent here is the comparison of columns two and five—the budgets for consecutive years.

YOU WILL notice that the Orinda Fire District has increased its budget by only $33,345 over the previous year. And most of this represents salary increases for personnel.

Obviously, this district has tried to keep expenditures under control and this is reflected in a tight budget.

The tax rate would have gone up slightly to pay for the increased costs had the assessed valuation remained the same.

But instead of keeping a higher tax rate, and then spending the additional funds, the district chose to operate on a tighter

EVACUATION ROUTES in case of enemy attack now look like this as far as Contra Costa County is concerned. This map is now under preparation by the County Civil Defense office and will soon be available. The dark lines are primary evacuation routes. You will note that arrows showing direction are no longer included in the evacuation plan. This is because, due to wind conditions following a nuclear attack, traffic direction may vary. For example, instead of being routed east toward the Oakley-Byron area, it might be safer to route traffic west toward Richmond. The dotted line which intersects the center of the map divides the county into a "greater danger area" on the western side, and a "lesser danger area" on the eastern side. The division was made on the basis of initial radiation and blast only, and not on fallout.

Residents Will See Report

By DICK OSBORN

An obviously tense atmosphere prevailed as local trustees and the County Augmented Committee on School District Reorganization met Wednesday night to consider unification of the Acalanes Union High School District.

No action was taken.

However, representatives of every elementary school district involved——Walnut Creek, Lafayette, Orinda, Moraga and Canyon — officially asked the committee to postpone any action.

COMMITTEE member William Freeman of Lafayette, in order to reduce the "pressure" on trustees present, moved that the meeting be adjourned to Thursday, November 30, "to consider action" on the Odell report.

This is a report on the unification of the Acalanes High School area recently submitted by the Stanford Research Group under the leadership of Dr. William Odell.

Dr. Jack Shabazian, chairman of the county committee,

How Would Unification Come About?

How does unification of a school district come about and what does it mean?

This is one of the questions asked at the meeting of the County Augmented Committee on School District Reorganization Wednesday night at Acalanes High School.

Here is the explanation, as offered by committee chairman Dr. Jack Shahbazian.

The county committee has been charged, by state law, to prepare a county-wide plan for the unification of school districts. Unification means providing education in one district for grades kindergarten through 12, under one school board.

The county committee, which is augmented in any given area by members of local school boards, must take a vote on a plan.

If this committee were to vote for total unification of the Acalanes High School District, this is the way the procedure would work.

The committee would submit its recommendation to the county superintendent of Schools, who would then approve the tentative plan and work out the mechanics for the unification, that is boundaries, tax rates, etc.

A public hearing would then be called in the area affected, possibly as soon as two weeks after action was taken by the county committee.

Following this public hearing the proposal would be forwarded to the state for approval, and then remanded back to the county office.

An election would then be called and a simple majority would decide the result.

Ranchland Rezoned

Application of Donald Rheem to rezone property from general agricultural to single family was approved by the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors last night.

Both the Rheem property and Area 3 including Moraga Del Rey and the undeveloped section west of Moraga Highway were rezoned to R-20.

An area generally bounded on the north by Rheem Highlands, and Tract 2898, on the east by the Orinda School District line and on the south by the Ivy Dr. area was rezoned from A-2 to R-10 and R-12.

CD Dope Lacking

Looking for information on Civil Defense for your family?

Would you like to know how to build a fall-out shelter, or where to get a map showing evacuation routes for this area?

Looking for lists suggesting emergency food supplies and disaster kits?

Well, you'll probably have a pretty hard time finding this material right now.

The County Civil Defense and Disaster office is completely out of kits which they have been providing local residents, as is the local state Disaster Office.

"SIX MONTHS ago you could not give one of these kits away," said a spokesman for the state office.

"Now, suddenly, there has been a run on our informational kits that has finally backed us up even to the national level."

Orders for additional material have been back ordered at both the county and state levels.

County Disaster Officer Will Perry is trying to do something about the situation.

NOW BEING PRINTED, and expected to be available within two weeks, are copies of the evacuation route maps like the one at the top of this page.

Supplementary emergency material is being printed on the back of the map.

Perry is also trying to compile a local "disaster" booklet which will be printed by the county and will contain specific information pertaining to this area.

PERRY SAID that his office has sent out 24,000 pieces of literature and 1300 complete kits in the last month, and that they are keeping a record of the names of people now requesting information so that it can be sent to them as soon as it is available.

"But I have no idea when that will be," said Perry.

Moraga Rd. Will Be Widened

Supervisor Nielsen announced today that the Board of Supervisors approved the plans and specifications for the widening to four lanes of the remaining two-lane portion of Moraga Road between Rheem Boulevard and Donald Drive.

The construction of this link will complete the improvement of this road from Donald Drive to the summit of the hill. As funds become available, the improvement is to be extended south to Moraga and north to Lafayette to serve this rapidly developing area.

Sister's Love, Care Aids Brother

By JEAN JERNIGAN

There's a little girl living at 61 Tara Road, Orinda. She's an attractive little girl, she could be your daughter or mine. She's a little girl with a big responsibility.

Even though by years she is just a little girl, by experience and understanding she outshines many of us who call ourselves adults. You see, this little girl has a brother, Norman.

Norman is a victim of Cystic Fibrosis.

Until recently, little was known about cystic fibrosis. Infants and children diagnosed as CF patients could expect a short life span of five years.

THANKS TO medical progress, some lucky few may now live to their early teens . . . if they have proper care.

Eleven-year-old Deean Hart loves her brother, Norman, and because her mom and dad are members of the East Bay California Chapter, National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation, Deean is well aware of the many problems confronting both victim and parents.

Last June Deean told her family's story in what adults would call a thesis, but to her was a bit of volunteer work because she felt it from her heart . . . and had to write it.

Principal and teachers of Orinda's Glorietta School were impressed by Deean's grasp of the problem and her ability to explain it to others.

THEY SUGGESTED to Deean's parents that her story be told publicly through the press, particularly because it might help other families with CF patients.

The Sun was set to take pictures and write the story, but Norman became gravely ill. With loving care, faith and the hope for more medical knowledge to help him, Norman once again defeated the devastating problems of CF and resumed his life as a little boy, completely normal to the external eye.

Norman is able to lead a nearly normal life because everyone cooperates in his care, but most of all, because his sister Deean shoulders much of the responsibility.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hart, the children's parents, own a bakery in Berkeley. Mrs. Hart must spend much of her time there.

"I WORK now more than I would ordinarily have to," she explained, "because caring for a CF patient is expensive. Most families with CF children must spend an average of $400 a month for their care."

"Norman must take antibiotics, and nearly four times the average amount of vitamins needed by the usual growing child. In addition, he must take aerosol treatments three times a day, and of course, at night, he must sleep in a Mistogen tent.

"Deean is a big help with his care," Mrs. Hart continued. "With the cooperation of the school she sees that he gets his morning pills. She watches him on the playground to see that he does not overdo.

When he takes an aerosol treatment she reads to him, to keep him quiet and happy during the treatment."

IN HER REPORT, Deean writes, "One in every 900 marriages, on the average, unites parents carrying the gene that produce a CF child.

"Cystic Fibrosis is the most common chronic disease of infancy and childhood. Every two and a half hours, round the clock a CF child is born. Half of them die before they are five."

Deean made her report on Cystic Fibrosis because, "my brother has this disease and not many people know about it.

"It does not tell anything about it in the dictionary, but it is not an uncommon disease. Lots of children have it, but people do not know about it."

JUST TURNED nine years old, Norman's disease was first diagnosed when he was five. Mrs. Hart said he had been chronically ill since he was six weeks old, but no one could actually determine what was wrong, as various test proved inconclusive.

"Norman went to southern California when he was five to visit his grandmother. During the hot weather there, he became dehydrated and was hospitalized. It was then that doctors were able to diagnose his trouble as cystic fibrosis," Mrs. Hart recalled.

"It is not easy to find a doctor who can treat cystic fibrosis, Mrs. Hart continued. Norman is BOTH SYLVIA and William Hart are members of the East Bay California Chapter, National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation.

The foundation has films and literature that tell the Cystic Fibrosis story and of continuing progress in research which eventually, it is hoped, will lead to a cure.

Mrs. Hart said the films and literature are available to clubs, schools, church groups, and organizations interested in learning more about the disease and how they can help.

The foundation is still small, and help is needed, according to Mrs. Hart. She said there are a number of CF cases in this immediate area, and many more as yet undiagnosed.

PARENTS seeking help may call Mrs. Hart evenings at CL 4-3316.

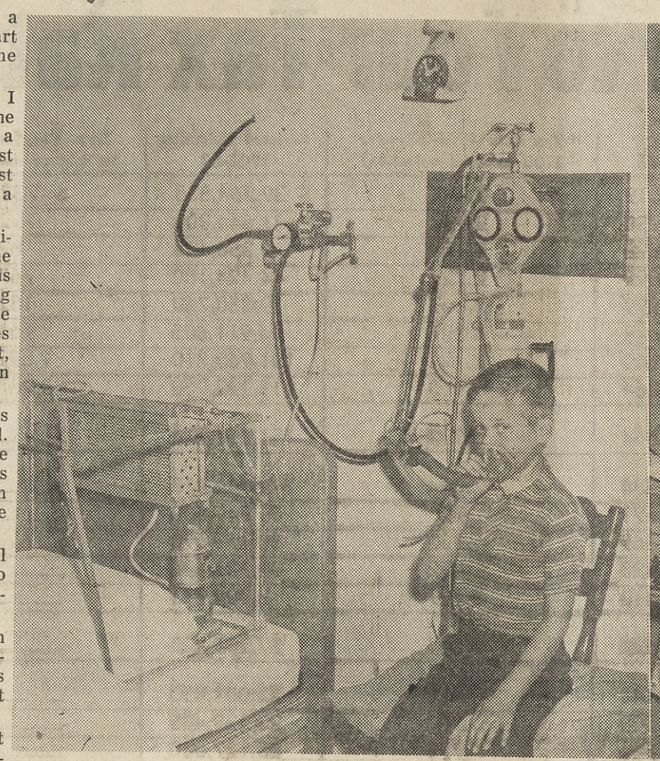
Deean concludes her report thusly: You can give to the Cystic Fibrosis fund by mailing contributions to the East Bay Chapter, National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation, Room 220, 2101 Telegraph Avenue, YMCA Building, Oakland 12, California.

"The first objective of the research is finding a cure, the second is to broaden and intensify the entire research efforts.

"If these goals are realized it would help thousands of children such as my brother Norman to lead more normal lives. The foundation is engaged in an intense effort to inform people about the disease."

A LITTLE GIRL cared enough to labor over a detailed report on Cystic Fibrosis. She cares enough each day to forego many childhood pleasures, in order to care for her brother.

Do you care? Only when a number of people care enough to help youngsters like Norman, only when parents are informed, can the foundation grow strong enough to bring hope to hundreds now doomed.



THREE TIMES a day it is essential that nine-year-old Norman Hart receive an aerosal treatment to free lungs and breathing passages of mucus. Norman is the victim of cystic fibrosis and must spend every night sleeping in the mistogen tent at left. Care for CF patients averages from $100 to $400 a month. Norman and many others like him need your help. Sun photos by Lee Taylor.

DEEAN HART, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hart of 61 Tara Road, Orinda, shoulders much of the responsibility of caring for Norman. She sees that he takes his more than 15 pills a day, reads to him during treatments and watches him at school to see that he takes it easy. Recently Deean wrote a comprehensive report on CF in the hope that more people would become interested in the fight against this fatal disease.

Road Controversy Simmers Down

A tensely awaited meeting of the Hacienda Homes Improvement Association Monday night ended on a calm note despite forecasts of controversy over El Toyonal.

According to Mrs. Jerome Donchin, who gave a report for the road committee, there was no blanket opposition to improvements for El Toyonal. Actual opposition, she said, boiled down to 13 homes, most of which are located on El Toyonal.

"WE ARE all agreed that something must be done about the road," she said, "and a new road committee will be appointed to work out a solution amenable to residents affected by the road."

The new committee will include members from both the opposition and the proponents for improving El Toyonal. This committee will attempt to resolve the differences of opinion and be ready with recommendations acceptable to all prior to a meeting with county officials November 1.

Supervisor Mel Nielsen had originally called for a meeting Monday night. However, this has been indefinitely postponed to permit the association's committee to work out a solution.

Meanwhile, Ted Rimer, who was elected association president at Monday's meeting, will send a questionnaire to all residents on El Toyonal, Loma Vista and Cedar in an effort to obtain a consensus.

HE HAS asked that anyone willing to serve on the road committee or anyone with suggestions or ideas regarding El Toyonal contact him at CL 4-3176.

Others elected Monday night and installed for the 1961-62 term are Art Jensen, vice president; Kathy O'Neal, secretary, and Ray Grazzi, treasurer. Trustees elected are Paul Monser, Charles Hanks and Murray McNeil.

In other business the association membership, by unanimous vote, agreed to do nothing about the dam noise.

As a result of a meeting September 18 of the civic affairs committee of the Orinda Association with representatives of those concerned with the Briones Dam project, members of all improvement associations in the area had been asked to make a decision regarding means of cutting down the noise.

Mufflers, shorter hours, a change in starting hour had been suggestions offered as a solution to the noise from the dam project.

Orinda Bridge Club Formed; Meets Thursday

The Orinda Parents' Club bridge chairmen met this week to distribute bridge money to their schools. The program is well started, but it is hoped that many more bridge players will contact the chairmen and participate in this fun-way of raising money for the school children.

Last year more than $1250 was collected in this manner.

Chairmen are: Mrs. Herbert Lavigne of Del Rey, Mrs. Philip Bush of Ivy, Mrs. Tom Widener of Glorietta, Mrs. Remo Calonico of Sleepy Hollow, Mrs. Jeanette Danlyoff of Orinda, Mrs. William Romer of Inland Valley, Mrs. Marvin Yost, general coordinator of the program, and Mrs. James MacDonald of Pine Grove.

Church Plans Are Approved By CC Board

The Contra Costa County Board of Adjustment has partially- approved a request by St. Mark's Methodist Church to establish a church and related facilities on Moraga Highway near Orchard Road.

Approval was for a chapel only, with the church to submit additional plans as development progressed.

Another request, that of Ian Mackinlay to divide a parcel of property in Altarinda Estates into four lots, less than one-half acre in area, was held over at the applicant's request, to be heard Oct. 4.

New Job Will Emphasize School Plans

A new position, director of school planning, will be filled early next year, with intent to emphasize selection of school sites and planning new buildings in Contra Costa County.

The director of school planning will assist the 32 school districts in the county.

County superintendent Floyd Marchus reported to the county board of education that specifications for the new position are being prepared by civil service. Recruiting will begin soon.

The position was recently created by the board of supervisors on recommendation of county administrator J. P. McBrien.

It had been advocated for several years by the Contra Costa County Taxpayers' Association and the county superintendent's office on the grounds that the annual multi-million dollar capital outlay by school districts warrants the services of an expert in planning.

Dr. Marchus said the position is envisioned as performing such operations as making recommendations on school site utilization, educational specifications and architectural contracts.

Also reviewing preliminary plans, advising on contracts, inspections and final approval of plans and specifications, representing smaller districts otherwise without a voice before local and state agencies, advising on school bond issues, and assisting with the training of school building inspectors and those charged with the maintenance of the completed buildings.

Another responsibility would be to assist with the intricate and time consuming task of processing plans for buildings for which funds are supplied by state loans.

Firemen Have Quiet Week

All was quiet in the Orinda Fire Department this week.

Both Orinda and Moraga trucks responded Monday to a call from a home on Eastwood Drive where minor damage was reported. Two appliance fires were stopped Tuesday.

Firemen followed through on a rescue call to the Briones Dam site September 20.

Rotarians Will Greet Top Official

Richard Homrighausen, M.D., and Eugene Crosetti became members of the Orinda Rotary Club at the club's luncheon meeting Wednesday at the Casa Orinda.

Dr. Homighausen has offices in Orinda Village and Crosetti is co-owner of Gino's in the Village.

Rotarian Jim Kral gave a resume of the Rotary District Convention held in Oakland recently. Kral told the Orinda Rotarians the convention stressed the thought that members should realize what they get out of a club depends on what they put in.

Miss Cathy Adams, a student at Miramonte High School, was a guest at the meeting, accompanied by Mrs. Elizabeth Cunningham. Miss Adams is the Rotary Club entry in the 1961 Miss Football of Contra Costa County contest.

Bear Killed By Automobile Near Orinda

The carcass of a 200-pound black bear found on Bear Creek Road had local naturalists scratching their heads this week.

County Animal Control Officer Tom Miles said bears just aren't supposed to be in Contra Costa County.

But the evidence was there, as Fred and Naomi Mills of 1502 Palm Avenue, Richmond, found when they struck the shaggy beast near the entrance to Bear Creek Road in the Orinda hills recently.

Frank Swett, son of a famous Contra Costa County pioneer, and Paul Covel, naturalist for the Oakland park department, concurred in Miles' opinion. Nearest bear inhabitants are found in Sonoma and Mendocino Counties.

Multiples Are Turned Down

Denial of the request of Duffel and Smoot to rezone a section of property on Camino Encinas in the Orinda area to multiple family from transition residential agricultural climaxes a long battle fought by the Orinda Association.

In a recent action by the County Board of Supervisors, the rezoning request was voted down, 5 to 1.

Hats Off To...

Betsy Kilburn of 4-H Boots & Saddles Set

A GOLDEN SPUR, please, for Betsy Kilburn, senior leader of the Orinda 4-H Light Horse Management group who for the past three years has instructed local children in the care of the one closest to their heart—their horse, of course!

Like mother, like daughters, the Kilburn girls, Mary Lou, 13, and Betsy Ann, 16, share the love of equestrianship with their Mills grad mother who was a member of the Bit & Spur campus riding club and now combines her favorite past associations by wielding the gavel for the Orinda Mills Club as well as the reins of 4-H leadership.

HUSBAND CHANNING, assistant manager of Beckman Express, supplies the strong arm support required to haul and trail their horses from point to point—for the Sleepy Hollow family spends every weekend traveling to and from some horsey function and last year journeyed to Middleburg, Virginia, where the capable Kilburn girls rode with the best of them. Sixteener Betsy Ann, who copped champ honors locally in Alameda and Contra Costa County, will compete in the stiff state finals for Horse Mastership in Stockton.

DEEPLY TANNED, her air in braids or chignon, Betsy's "at home" costume is mainly boots and jeans or jodphurs for there's a barn and stable near their Crane Court home. She's quick to laud Jean Wiggins for assistant leadership in the 4-H group which with 25-30 members meets semi-monthly and will hold a Riding Clinic October 21 to be judged by Val Towhill of the American Horse Association.

Tense Trustees Listen To Unification Talks

opened the meeting with remarks intended to reduce the apparent anxiety of elementary district trustees present.

"This is a public meeting," said Dr. Shahbazian, "but it is primarily a meeting of the augmented committee. The meeting will not get out of hand.

"HOWEVER, there will be no gag, and we will hear comments from school board members."

Letters were then read from the Walnut Creek School District, the Moraga School District, and a report of a phone call from the Orinda School District, all asking that the meeting be postponed in order to allow the districts more time to find out how the people in their respective areas felt about unification.

Trustee Gordon Ainsworth of Orinda said that he could speak only for the Orinda board, but that he felt that a good deal of confusion existed.

HE ASKED if the committee was present to actually take action, and if so, that he was disturbed because he felt that insufficient time had been allowed for a complete study of the 135 page report which was submitted to the various school boards only two weeks ago.

Dr. Shahbazian replied that he felt that the county committee had received a comprehensiv oral report from the Stanford group and that it seemed to him that no more time was needed to study the written report.

"The committee will give you the time," said Shahbazian. "It is not the intention of the committee to ram this down anyone's throat.

"WE HAVE been patient countywise, not only here. We have a job to do, whether you agree with it or not, and it will be done. Time is getting shorter and shorter.

"It would seem after four years of study, that ample time has gone by. If you feel you want a little more time, a few weeks won't make any difference to me or the committee," said Shahbazian.

Trustee Helen Brattain of the Lafayette School District asked the committee to be patient.

"The public hasn't had the time to study this matter," she said. "The press has presented only one view — isn't there another side?" she asked.

AT THIS point Lafayette trustees also asked a delay in the decision.

Trustee Don Falconer of Moraga asked if there were more copies of the report available so that residents of the districts could study them.

Six copies were made available to each school district as well as extra copies at the county school's office, which may be checked out by residents.

Trustee Boardman Moore of Lafayette took issue with the recommendations of the Odell report that the Acalanes District be unified into one large school district rather than two or three smaller unified districts and said, "It seems to me that the same date they (the Stanford group) used to prove horizontal (one large district) unification could also be used to prove the value of vertical (several smaller unified districts) unification."

MOORE ALSO warned of the possibility of losing community identity through horizontal unification.

Trustee Al Haskell of Moraga, who said he wished to speak just as an individual, said:

"We are all interested, primarily, in the welfare of our children. Those of us who have served on school boards, that sometimes get disgusted with the public's reaction. You make a decision, and then the people come forth.

"There are deep feelings on this subject," he continued. "Many of us have already formed opinions, but our people should know about this. Let us go back and talk to our people." He then asked that no action be taken on the report.

Here Are Names Of County Committeemen

The County Committee on School District Organization is an appointive group with members named by the county board of education.

Members are:

Chairman, Dr. Jack Shahbazian of Danville; William Freeman, Lafayette; Mrs. Lenard Grote, Pleasant Hill; Margaret Plummer, Dave Snyder, El Cerrito; Bill Leath, Mt. Diablo Unified District; Bob Reed, Antioch; Fabian Richart, Byron; Frank E. Loher, Richmond; Frank Brady, Crockett and Bert Davi, Pittsburg.

This county committee is augmented by one member from the board of trustees of each district concerned in any area subject to action by the committee.

Each member has one vote. Thus, in our area, there are 11 votes from members of the county committee and six votes from the school districts involved.

These are Orinda, Canyon, Moraga, Lafayette and Walnut Creek, all elementary districts, and Acalanes Union High School District.

Shelter Life Is 'Blinding' Experience!

"He will be almost totally blind when he comes out."

That was the prediction for James Fries, Hayward laborer, who has been living in an underground blast-fallout shelter for the last two weeks.

Fries will emerge Sunday at 2 p.m. from his "home" at Suncraft Engineering Company, 2955 North Main, Walnut Creek.

Melvin Melnicoe, company owner, said it will take some time for Fries' eyes to adjust to the outdoors.

He will be taken immediately to a doctor's office for an examination.

Melnicoe said, "He's lost about 12 pounds, eating the emergency rations, but his weight was 263, so he can afford it."

"From the daily doctor's examinations, he appears to be in perfect health.

"He was formerly a high school football player, and while he was down in the shelter he managed to work up to 72 push-ups at one time," Melnicoe said.

He added that the accumulation of carbon dioxide at the floor level of the shelter was considered dangerous.

A crew managed to install an air outlet at the floor level, eliminating the problem, he said.

Fries has been offered cash amounts for his own personal account of the two weeks underground, and radio and television stations have taken a strong interest in the experiment.

budget and drop the tax rate, thus saving the taxpayers money.

YOU CAN ALSO see from the chart that in areas where the change in assessed valuation was not so pronounced, as in the case of Walnut Creek, the tax rate necessarily increased as budgets increased.

This was the problem faced, for example, by the Walnut Creek School District, which found itself with a necessarily higher budget plus bond retirement payments on a new bond issue and is faced with a 45-cent increase in the tax rate per $100 assessed valuation.

Thus you can find out, from this chart, just what will happen to your taxes this year in all major categories.

'Crown Jewels' On Display At Capwell's

Jewels valued at $20,000 will glitter among bouffant petticoats at Capwell's, today and tomorrow in the Children's Furnishings Department, third floor.

The jewels are authentic replicas of the priceless British Crown Jewels.

Represented in the display are five of the most important pieces in the British Crown Jewel collection.

The St. Edwards Crown is that with which the monarch is crowned when ascending the throne during the coronation ceremony.

The original St. Edwards Crown was melted down in 1649, and the jewels sold by the Commonwealth.

In 1649, with the return of the monarchy, the "new" crown was created to resemble as closely as possible the original. Rubies, emeralds, diamonds and sapphires adorn this crown.

The Imperial Crown of India was made to order for King George V for his coronation as Emperor of India.

The Imperial State Crown was made in 1838 for Queen Victoria, containing a sapphire believed to be the oldest crown jewel, dating back to the coronation of Edward the Confessor in 1042.

The King's Orb, a Christian symbol, was made for Charles II in 1611.

The Royal Sceptre, used in the coronation ceremony, contains the "Star of Africa" diamond.

DVC. Stanley and OCC Are Hit by Burglars

Stanley School in Lafayette, the Orinda Country Club and Diablo Valley College were victims of burglaries over the weekend.

A quantity of sports equipment was taken from the gymnasium storeroom at Stanley over the weekend.

Harold N. White noticed the missing equipment early Monday morning.

The hinge screws had been removed from the storeroom door to gain entry.

The responsible persons had then replaced one screw on each hinge and put the door back in place, the sheriff's report said.

The school reported that two duffel bags, nine footballs, 11 tennis balls, two basketballs and two soccer balls were taken.

Teddy Carpiso of the Orinda Country Club reported that the snack bar at the 11th hole had been broken into over the weekend.

HE SAID he had closed the snack bar at 5 p.m. Sunday. When he returned Tuesday morning he found that the door had been pried open. The snack bar is closed on Monday.

Six cases of beer, five quarts of whiskey, five cases or pop, 100 packages of cigarettes and eight boxes of candy were taken, according to club officials.

Five dollars and 20 cents was taken from a cash drawer in the Diablo Valley Library over the weekend.

Ann Cline reported the theft Monday morning to sheriff's deputies.

A PETTY cash drawer at the library's main desk had been pried open, she said.

She said the library is closed at 5 p.m. Friday and not opened until Monday.

Sheriff's deputies could find no evidence of forced entry.

Two persons from the school staff were in the library on Sunday but did not notice if the drawer was open at that time.

The person took all the quarters and some of the half dollars, but left $4.85 in change and two $1 bills untouched.

NAACP Man Will Speak On Tuesday

Moses Coleman, president of the National Association for Advancement of Colored People, Pittsburg Chapter, will speak Tuesday night at a meeting of the Fair Play Council of Central Contra Costa County.

Retirement Fund to Pay For 'Tower'

The county will go ahead with financing its 12-story, $3 million annex to the county administration building in Martinez with money from the retirement fund.

The county will be able to finance the building with the funds, and will actually have its use under a lease for the first 25 years, after which the building will be turned over to the county.

Harry Morrison of the county taxpayers association had earlier protested this method of financing, saying that use of bond money would provide a saving.

County administrator J. P. McBrien replied that the bond money proposal would involve a delay in construction, and the increase in construction costs during that time would more than offset any savings from use of bond money.

Construction costs would go up about five per cent during the year before the bonds would be approved, McBrien said.

He added that outside of the increased construction costs, the difference between the two methods would involve some one-tenth of a cent per $100 assessed valuation.

College Scholarship Is Made Available Locally

A College Scholarship Award has been made available by the Lafayette Federal Savings and Loan Association, it was announced today by Harry L. Morrison, Jr., president.

First of what will be an usual scholarship award, the scholarship will be granted a 1962 graduate of the Acalanes Union High School District.

The award will be made based upon need, scholastic ability and leadership qualities. The student awarded the scholarship will be able to attend the college of his choice, whether in the United States or abroad, Morrison stated.

A committee has been chosen to judge applicants, Morrison added, and the decision of the committee will be final. Those serving on the committee are Neal Parsons, superintendent of the Acalanes Union High School District; Mrs. Herman Silverman, wife of the publisher of The Sun newspapers, and Mrs. William Freeman, former trustee of the Lafayette Elementary School District.

'Rhinoceros' Coming to Alcazar

Acclaimed in Paris, London and New York as one of the funniest and most original comedies of our time, Ionesco's "Rhinoceros" comes to the Alcazar for a three-week engagement beginning Tuesday evening, co-starring Zero Mostel and Alfred Ryder.

Mostel has won wide critical acclaim for his hilarious performance in "Rhinoceros." Critics said they never saw anything funnier than the scene in which, in full view of the audience, Mostel actually changes into a rhinoceros, raging, snorting and cavorting.

All kinds of droll and perceptive observations about the human race are made in "Rhinoceros" by Ionesco, who doesn't approve of conformity of any kind and establishes his case with enormous ingenuity.

Through wild, slapstick and brilliant comedy, this ingenious play proclaims the right of the human ego to assert itself. An orgy of laughs, "Rhinoceros" has been called the most exciting comedy of 1961.

"Rhinoceros" is presented here under the auspices of the Theatre Guild — American Theatre Society. Mail orders are now being received at the Alcazar Theatre. Performances will be given evenings, except Sunday, and matinees Wednesday and Saturday, with a special matinee on October 6.

September Song

WHEN the Autumn weather turns the leaves to gold . . . & the poison oak to red so at least you know you're near the darn thing . . . & the countryside wears its new Fall wardrobe in a first burst of the season's splendor.

The golden dawn of Indian Summer breaks through the window before the alarm goes off & bids you rise & shine, Early Bird . . . The special stillness of a subdued morning, the sudden sereness of a pink & perfect eventide seeming somehow unique in sight, sound & smell to the month that is September.

THE HARVEST MOON comes up over the mountain like a giant Jack O'Lantern & changes in its rise to the skies from a pot of molten orange to one of glowing gold.

Our town by night, drenched in moonlight & shadows, the lit-up houses flecking the hills like a Fairyland . . . The crickets sing their nocturnal song & might lull you to sleep from your place on the patio where it not for the Dam drone—of the big Euclid trucks working in fleets (more maddening than mesmerizing) . . . A faint breeze taps you on the shoulder & sends a few more bronzed Maple fingers fluttering to the ground.

THE DAYS DWINDLE DOWN: Precious few, these silvery sultry nights & golden glorious days & you've already got out of the pool habit because the pools always close just when the good weather bows in & if they stayed open, nobody comes around anyhow, including you . . .

Two tiny sports cars w/drivers total strangers to one another, honk & hail in passing like two bumper cars being driven by kids at a broadwalk concession . . . On the spreeway by Safeway, a long white convertible careens suddenly as both left-side tires do a double blow-out, then it limps into Fred Troy's service station having lost all its luxurious look.

ROGER HOYER skims downhill in his little green Sprite & Becky Svenssons scoots uphill bearing her brood homeward in the family Volksbus . . . Roger, by the way, besides clerking at Safeway, is attending Oakland City College where his mother Beryl is teaching . . . & as for the aforementioned Becky, you know how we all get rattled & garble our words when the kiddies interrupt?

Becky was talking tennis (her husband Floyd is a terrific player & they're building their own court behind their Alta Vista home) well, anyhow, HERE is the story . . . Becky got going & what she was saying came out tenement ternis which we think is pretty cute when she really meant Tournament tennis. This happen to you, too?

Harold & Florence Scott up on Sunrise Hill no sooner bade bye to their plasterers who put the finishing touches on the Scott's new pool than their first guests showed up to christen it. They all had a Welcome wade anyhow!

Tout Touche-ay!

UP AROUND Acacia Drive, little green-leotarded mermaids splash in the new sea-green pool of the William Gilmores, their after-lesson dividend while dance-teach Winnie G. puts another class of late-afternoon ballerinas through their pas-de-deux paces.

DOWN AT Orinda Store, the Cadillac crowd congregates to collect Life's Little Necessities . . . & in celebration of HIS birthday, Dan & Cornellia Adams duck down into the cool wine cellar to ceremoniously select the right vintage for the celebrative supper . . . Same Birthday, last Tue. the 26th, for Shoeman Al Baer who "got taken" to dinner (Pop said) by the Ladies in his Life who chose the Kaiser Center's Manning's for his B'day dinner. Then took him shopping. For THEM!

SAN FRAN'S smog sends a curtain of far-reaching gloom settling over the countryside . . . The irridescent hummingbird jet-lives to fill his beak at the colored water feeders & the rambunctious squirrels & the raucous bluejays vie w/each other for the chatterbox championship.

SUDDEN THOUGHT: If Bears come to Bear Creek Road & cattle rustlers come to Orinda & pirates prevail upon the high seas, can Indians & covered wagons be far behind?

In the gray stickiness of the day, a huge hawk soars & circles in the sky & our little feathered friends suddenly go song-silent & seek hasty refuge in the long arms of a large oak.

SOMEBODY'S DOG trots the road carrying a dead bird in his jaws & a family of quail are the only pedestrians in sight in the ominous still of the early afternoon. As an old Native Californian was heard to remark at the Post Office, "It's regular earthquake weather!"

IT MUST BE THE WEATHER: Sports Unlimited doing a whiz biz in tennis balls last Sat. & you wouldn't BELIEVE, unless you were there, how many people (adults, kids alike) turned up for tennis lessons at Miramonte under the Orinda Rec. Dept. program . . . Howard Hoyt w/his sprouts, Pat Borbridge, Betty Pilgrim to name a few w/rackets in hand.

In addition bidders are requested (but not required) to supply an estimate of the total net interest cost to the District on the basis of their respective bids, which shall be considered as informative only and not binding on either the bidder or the District. Checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be returned by the County Clerk by mail, upon the award of the bonds. No interest will be paid upon deposit made by the successful bidder.

My Favorite RECIPE

BY

Nancy Black

Hello Gourmets:

One of the greatest culinary surprises for French people visiting the United States is to be served a salad with "French dressing"—they usually don't like it much.

If there is such a thing as French Dressing, it is "vinaigrette"; salt, pepper, oil and vinegar. This is the basic dressing for nearly all salads and the only dressing (with the possible addition of chopped herbs) for what is called "simple salads." These include green tossed salad and green vegetable salads.

"Salades composees," which are of many different ingredients, are mostly served as hors-d'oeuvre. The dressing is more elaborate and often includes mayonnaise.

VINAIGRETTE (basic dressing)

1 tspn. salt, ¼ tspn. pepper, 1 tbspn. vinegar (preferably white), 3 tbspns. vegetable oil.

In salad bowl, combine salt, pepper and vinegar. Stir until salt is dissolved. Stir in oil. Mix well. Add salad and toss gently.

For a salad for 4 to 6 persons.

While we're on salads, try this one for something different:

LENTIL SALAD

2 cups cooked lentils, 6 tbspn. vinaigrette, 3 anchovy fillets, cut into small pieces.

Drain lentils. Keep lukewarm. In salad bowl, combine vinaigrette, lentils and anchovies. Toss gently but thoroughly. Serve cold. Serves four.

Simply great for a simple dinner of Black's steaks, French bread and this salad. Try it!

See you next week, NANCY

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 29,1961

Is Your Family Well Enough Prepared? . . . .

Ahe you confused about what to do in case of an enemy nuclear attack?

Are you confused as to whether it would be better for your family to consider seriously the construction of an adequate fall-out shelter, or to plan to evacuate?

Are you confused as to which evacuation route to take, should that be your family choice?

If your answers to all these questions are affirmative you may take some faint, if grim pleasure in knowing that most people are in exactly the same boat.

EVEN THE COUNTY Civil Defense and Disaster Office is hard put to give you a fool-proof survival plan.

At the moment, the official recommendation is an adequate fall-out shelter—one which would protect you and your family for at least two weeks.

This is based on the assumption that in case of nuclear attack, the evacuation pattern would have to be determined on the spot as determined by current wind conditions.

And the only way you could get this information would be through Conelrad—640 and 1240 KC on your radio dial.

You will notice if you look at the evacuation map which is printed in the front section of this issue of your Sun that arrows are no longer shown on the evacuation routes.

THIS IS BECAUSE it cannot be determined in advance which way traffic would have to flow on these routes to avoid fall-out.

So what can you do?

Pending further information, which is now being prepared and will be presented in succeeding issues of The Sun, you can prepare an emergency kit for your family which would at least help you survive should you have to evacuate immediately.

And this would be your only choice if you did not have an adequate family shelter.

Your car, of course, should always be kept at least half full of gas, and should be ready to roll. You should have available a supply of blankets, medical supplies and a battery operated radio.

And you should have food.

HERE ARE recommended food supplies which you can store easily.

Water in bottles or jugs . . . a minimum of a half gallon for each member in your family.

Foods should include powdered milk, canned fruit juices, canned fruits such as peaches and pears and dried raisins or apricots.

Canned meats and meat substitutes are good, including tuna, salmon, baked beans and canned luncheon meats. Canned brown bread is reliable and crackers and cookies in sealed boxes keep well.

Instant coffee, tea or cocoa would add liquid variation to your diet and chocolate bars, hard candy, gum and tobacco may be included as extras.

Unfortunately many of us have gone through the experience of providing some kind of emergency food supply and then watching it go bad after lying around for a year or two.

TO PREVENT this, as much of the material as possible in your survival kit should be rotated with your regular foods so that it is replaced with fresh material periodically.

There was a time, a few years ago, when some people got excited about civil defense. Most people did not. Now there has been an increase in world tension and a corresponding increase in civil defense and family survival measures.

But if that unfortunate day ever comes when nuclear weapons explode in our area, your life and the lives of your family members will probably depend upon the plans and the preparations you have made.

How prepared are you?

'Snitching'... It's Still Stealing Just the Same...

Did you ever "snitch" a candy bar from the corner store when you were a youngster?

Chances are you did, if you're like most kids. Maybe it wasn't a candy bar, but some small item.

Of course, you didn't call it stealing, because you had been taught that stealing was wrong. What you were doing was just a dare . . . or a lark.

Or maybe it gave you "status" with your peers.

Let's look at it another way. If one youngster takes one small item, that isn't much. But if 1000 youngsters do the same thing, it amounts to quite a bit of merchandise.

TO TELL YOU THAT this is a problem which exists right here at home, might shock you, but it is true.

Our merchants are being plagued by youngsters — juvenile shoplifters is what they actually are. The items being taken vary from candy bars to some relatively expensive items.

And this is disturbing. Because as our area population grows, the number of youngsters will increase with it. And what is now an annoying problem could become really serious.

Certainly it is serious to the merchant, even now.

HERE WE ARE, LIVING in what is basically an upper income area. Our kids are not starving. They certainly don't "need" the items that they are stealing.

Let us present an example. It is true, and for obvious reasons we will omit the names . . . and the community in which it happened, but it happened right here in the area.

A young girl, who was out shopping, met some of her teen-age friends.

They asked her why she was purchasing the items she was. They teased her and asked her why she should pay for the material when she could steal it.

They dared her into taking the items, and, fortunately, she was caught.

Her parents are responsible people and they were shocked to find this out.

NOW, THIS PROBLEM obviously comes home to roost. It is not basically the merchants' problem to protect their merchandise. It is our problem, as parents.

Certainly if a child steals one 10-cent candy bar it does not mean that he is headed for a life of crime, but it does indicate something . . . something that we, as parents, should know about.

MANY OF US CAN remember pulling stunts like this when we were youngsters, and it makes us wonder if our children are any more responsible than we were.

Perhaps it is time to find out, in our own families.

Because there is daily evidence of the problem, from the merchants themselves.

Could it be our youngsters?

The Staff Corner

Where Is Home? . . . .

By GEORGE COLBURN

Someone once said "There's No Place Like Home" and people have been echoing this statement for as long as I can remember.

But recently revealed statistic shows that many, many people don't find much truth in that classic remark any more and are leaving their homes in droves.

The State of California is due to become the most populated state in the Union shortly, because people are "invading" its boundaries to the tune of 1500 per day.

New York is the biggest state in the Union, population-wise, at the present time. But Americans, that strange breed, are moving East to New York at a rate of "only" 556 a day.

BEING a recent "invader" of this state, I find myself constantly talking of the "homeland," although never once mentioning I'd like to be back there for any kind of an extended stay.

Story tellers that make a living spinning yarns about the old home town always seem to live in Los Angeles—ever notice that?

And its the same with most people now residing in this fair state.

A YOUNG man and his recent bride came West after their wedding and a year later were dying to go back home for his vacation. After suffering through 10 days of hot, sticky, humid Chicago weather they "deserted" the relatives on some false pretense and hurried back "home" again.

The story is a familiar one, I'm sure.

Most Californians aren't really Californians. I spent a summer here a few years back and met one native in seven weeks.

This might have been unusual but it helps to emphasize a point.

The name "California" has a magic ring for many people. It did for me.

When I came here to live, I wasn't disappointed.

I talk about people and places back home because they are still very real and familiar.

And I may wish I could spend a few weeks enjoying myself on the native soil.

But for me, California still holds a magic spell. I couldn't leave for long. Like the married couple, I'd hurry back.

And like someone once said, "Home Is Where the Heart Is."

We Like It Here . . .

Time to be Kind to Our Four-footed Friends

By MARIE MONAHAN

WE WILL all please rise & say WOOF in honor of National Dog Week.

In honor of same, I have just parted with the roast beef remnants.

In the direction of our new pup's plate & considering the price of beef, as well as the spaghetti menu slated for later this week when the leftovers could be put to some further good, I must be out of my mind.

OR JUST AN old Softy.

The Meanest Mother (that's what they think I am) can be pliable as putty under the steady gaze of soft brown eyes . . . Or the wag of a little tail.

'BUT our dog's tail is not a little one & Softy that I am, I'm beginning to change my tune.

Right now I could qualify for county dog catcher.

WHEN our new dog wags his tail, he mows down everything in sight. Crash goes a vase!

The new mutt belongs mainly to our youngest son. The Little Master of the little half-German shepherd & half-collie starts his day yodeling at 5 ayem for "Smokey, Here Smokey."

IT'S the last thing we hear at night, softly, out the back deck . . . "Here Smokey, C'mon Smoke" as boy sneaks dog into the house & under his bed.

Smokey's tail is a foot long & wags a wide swath, usually sweeping the teacup off the coffee table or overturning the potted geraniums.

THE TAIL must go. We MUST do something about that swinging tail.

The very mention of shortening it sends The Little Master into a terrible upset. Poor Smokey. We can't do THAT to Smokey . . .

WE CAN'T. But somebody can, I explain. It only stands to reason that as the pooch grows, so grows his tail & a mighty weapon it will be full-grown.

I HAVE BEEN reminded by my son all week that this is National Dog Week.

I should be extra-special kind to Smokey this week.

LIKE NOT kicking him in the rump when he sneaks the cat's cream. Like not swatting him with a newspaper when he digs up my new azaleas . . . or reprimanding him resoundingly when he chews the baby's dolly to rags.

It is not enough he has to cut his teeth on my Sunday slippers.

IT IS not enough he has eaten all the begonia blooms.

It is not enough he digs out father's socks to bury them secretly along with his bones.

No, it's not enough we buy him special puppy meal & horsemeat, give him worm medicine & vitamins & bathe him with a buck's worth of flea spray every week . . . & blow him to a collar at the Pet Shop.

We buy him rubber ham bones & jingle-bell balls. But does he play with them? NO . . . he prefers the baby's pretty toys.

GRRRRrrrrrrrrr.

But we must celebrate National Dog Week. Be kind to all dogs. All dogs!

Everybody in our town has a dog & they've ALL been over here to meet Smokey. Including some from Walnut Creek.

That smart, darling, obedient, well-trained dog of ours. Imagine showing off all his oak trees! He likes it here . . .

School Problems?

Phone Calls and Study Time; It's a Problem

By LYLE OSMON
Academic Associates

I'm being half driven out of my mind by telephone calls made during our children's study time. Any suggestions?

ANSWER: Surely, and first of all, let's examine the damage that it can cause.

If we might presume that the student is sitting down studying and is mentally taken up with what he is doing and is consequently called to the 'phone, he will have lost his thought trend, it will require at least minutes (and multiply that times the number of calls a night, week or year—it's staggering) to retrace himself to his point of study, and his mind will be in competition with itself to determine whether he should concentrate on this area of study or the subject of the call.

What had started out to be a productive evening, might now turn out half-heartedly at best. If such instances become sorely abused it, then becomes incumbent for possibly a rule of the hard and fast nature that predetermines the times and/or number of calls either to be made or received.

Face it now, more than one test has been failed because of the thoughts of the upcoming party invitation that was just received in defference to the review hat was ti be done for tomorrow's test.

Letters to The Editor

EL TOYONAL

Dear Editor:

Several issues of your paper have been more or less devoted to the crusade of widening El Toyonal.

In the interest of the long suffering taxpayer and majority of residents of said street, I would like to present the other side of this controversy.

It is controversial because we feel very strongly that the inevitably increased speed is a menace to our children and that the beauty of El Toyonal will be either greatly lessened or lost.

The self-appointed committee says that this road is very dangerous. Due to the lack of any serious accident to cite, the habitual repeaters and drunk drivers are used as horrible examples . . . and on and on into the murky clouds.

When the committee met with opposition from the residents of El Toyonal they were invited to join the committee. Why were these poor souls never told when or where a meeting was to take place, or what plans were being made?

Aside from objecting to the doubtful tactics used, in closing I would like to emphatically state that again that in the opinion of many of us, widening of El Toyonal will greatly increase the hazards to our children. The slogan, "Speed Kills," is not meaningless.

I definitely feel that before any further funds are spent or action taken, a more representative and OPEN group should explore all aspects of this very debatable project.

MRS. R. E. HALE

HOUSEWIVES

Dear Editor:

I wish to commend you on the achievement of your recent revelation, experienced on September 23 in your editorial.

This revelation, happily, holds great promise of other latent truths as yet unknown to you and equally exciting.

It is heartwarming to find our local newspaper, The Sun, equipped with an editor with the capacities to make such discoveries possible.

Your startling piece of news . . . that housewives are not mentally retarded and in some cases even capable of bringing the correct data from their PTA's is earthshaking!

E. LEVATIN, Housewife

P.S.

I hope you will accept this in the spirit of fun. I enjoy your writing but couldn't resist this topic which always raises my ire.—E. L.

School Financing Looks Up

After rejecting 70 per cent of the school bond issues proposed to them in 1959-60, voters in school districts of Contra Costa County approved a majority of bond issues and state loans in 1960-61, for a total of $29,729,000.

This figure compares with $35,950,000 in bonds and loans defeated the previous year.

According to the office of county superintendent Floyd Marchus, all but two of eight proposals carried last year.

Local bonds totaled $20,939,000, and the remaining $8,750,000 represents state loans. Bond and loan proposals to the amount of $6,750,000 were defeated.

Dr. Marchus said bond amounts proposed have tended to increase, "not so much because of higher costs or accelerated building as because of the fact that school districts find it more efficient to ask voters to bond ahead."

Bonds are often issued only as needed or to keep the district bonded to capacity in order to qualify for state loans.

In the peak bond year of 1955-56 in Contra Costa County, the voters approved 13 of 15 issues.

The total amount was $18,320,000, in contrast to the $20,939,000 representing the six successful bond issues of 1960-61.

Should Papers Identify Juvenile Law-Breakers?

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

Making the decision to print names of juveniles involved with the law might be easier in a heterogenious metropolitan area than in a suburban district—especially one whose hometown newspaper proudly declares on its front page that it serves "the finest exclusively residential section in the entire west."

All socially prominent

Anticipated reaction from readers, advertisers and parents, virtually would deter this publisher from taking the debatable name-using step.

Not Herbert H. McCormick, publisher of the San Marino Tribune, in the exclusive suburban town near Los Angeles.

He was a typical hometown publisher, who admits "there have been times when we turned our heads because we have been thinking of kids who we hoped would see the error of their ways and turn over a new leaf."

But there developed in San Marino a series of incidents which led McCormick to change his policy.

"Now we're through," he says.

Now the Tribune is naming names.

And McCormick said he "never anticipated the response would reach such proportions."

How it started

The series of incidents which led to the Tribune's change of policy began in mid-June, when a group of 30 San Marino high school students formed on campus, draped the campus trees with paper, then marched to the nearby home of vice principal Norman Frost and used Frost's home as the target for a barrage of rotten garbage.

Frost was able to learn the identity of the gang members, and the school board surprised a bunch of "boys will be boys" thinking parents by dishing out some reasonably severe punishment.

The seniors in the group were allowed to take part in graduation activities, but their diplomas were blank. They were told diplomas would be awaiting them after they had apologized, in writing, to the faculty, students and administration, written a 500 word composition and put in 40 hours of labor.

Five juniors, with records showing similar escapades in the past, were expelled; four others put on suspension, with the same apology, essay and labor sentence given the seniors.

Many parents objected, some doubting the board's authority to mete out such punishment. The board stood pat.

Incident number 2

But even as this was transpiring at the school board meeting which lasted past midnight, Frost's home again was attacked, this time his front picture window the target for a well-thrown rock.

McCormick through these episodes was sticking to his life-long policy, thinking of the families, of the kids whom he hoped would turn over a new leaf. He reported thoroughly the school board's action, but left out the names.

But the wayward children of so many of McCormick's prominent neighbors were giving him thought ammunition, and another incident two weeks later lit the fuse.

Incident number 3

Another San Marinan suggested to his teenage daughter that she shouldn't associate with a particular boy, because he wasn't of the best character.

The boy quickly proved the father's point by getting four friends to lend moral support to march on the girl's home, where one of the boys drove an axe through the front door.

A police sergeant sent to apprehend the boys overheard them agreeing on mutual alibis, but not soon enough. He arrested three 18-year-olds and a 17-year-old. Another 18-year-old was arrested a week later.

Three of the youths lived in San Marino.

This was when, as McCormick remarked in an editorial later, he decided he was "through."

He printed the names and addresses, held his breath and sat back to await reaction—cancellations, criticism and castigation from outraged parents. He got reaction, but not what he expected.

Score: 48 to 2

In addition to a number of letters, the paper received 50 phone calls soon after the story was printed.

Two callers objected; 48 "were most emphatic and laudatory in their comments."

In a follow-up editorial, McCormick said he was prompted into a change of long-standing policy because he knew that not only did naming names clear other youths, whose neighbors always suspected them when such incidents happen, but the guilty "hellions came right back bragging because they got away with it."

He said that from now on he'd print names of all youths 18 or over, and those under if they have a prior record with the San Marino police.

Malicious destruction

"This applies to those charged with malicious destruction of private or public property or those accused of impairing the life and health of our residents.

"From here on, if aberrant persons do not wish to see their names on the wrong side of the ledger, they should watch what they are doing. After all, law enforcement officers are paid to do their duty, and besides the police blotter is open to the press."

Well, what do you think?

The Matadors led all the way as the visitors didn't score until the final period.

The Mats' defensive unit set up three of the four Miramonte touchdowns.

The home squad picked up a fumble on the Pacifica 32 in the opening quarter and six plays later had its first six-pointer of the new season.

The payoff play was a 26-yard screen pass from quarterback Tom Gaffney to Bob Williams.

Jim Lewis booted the first of his two conversions and Miramonte led, 7-0.

Center Glen Tobias scored the Matadors' second touchdown when he crashed through to block an attempted Pacifica punt. He pick up the loose ball and rambled 20 yards for the score to give Miramonte a 13-0 halftime bulge.

The Miramonte offense got into the picture in the third quarter when they marched 55 yards for the third touchdown.

Bob Bozek got the TD, going over from one yard out.

Another fumble recovery in the fourth quarter set up a fourth quarter touchdown with Dean Hilger going over on a one-yard plunge.

College Park Is Easy Victor

Surprising College Park scored the first four times they got the ball and went on to rout Alhambra, 31-6, in Martinez last Friday night.

It was the Falcons' second win of this, their first season of varsity football.

It was the Bulldogs' first game of the year.

The Falcons took advantage of several Alhambra miscues to jump off to a 24-0 halftime advantage.

Fred Robinson scored College Park's first TD when he picked up a Bulldog punt on the Alhambra 27 and raced into the end zone without being touched.

AN ALHAMBRA player had apparently downed the poor 13-yard punt, but he left the ball unprotected. The alert Robinson scooped the ball up and sped for paydirt.

Following the kickoff, Alhambra moved down to the CP 29, but the drive was halted by a fumble that the Falcons recovered on the 23.

Despite a 15-yard penalty the Falcons moved 77 yards in nine plays for their second sixpointer.

Loran Speck's pass to Art Miller was good for 37 yards and the TD.

Two plays after the kickoff the Bulldogs fumbled again, this time on their own 44.

Speck's 17-yard strike to Mike Sytkowski was the big play of the 10-play drive that led to College Park's third score of the night. Speck carried over from the one to make it 18-0 early in the second quarter.

AFTER a brilliant 59-yard punt return for a touchdown by Miller was nullified by a penalty, College Park moved for its fourth score of the half.

Starting from the Alhambra 44, the Falcons moved in for the TD in just three plays. Dick Larscheid's 26-yard run around left end netted the six points.

Devils Smash Las Lomas In Second Half, 41-7

By HEC HANCOCK

Mt. Diablo's Red Devils unleashed a powerful and well balanced attack last Friday night at Concord, as they clobbered the Las Lomas Knights, 41-7.

The defeat, the worst in Las Lomas history, served to avenge the 13-12 upset the Red Devils suffered in last year's contest.

Tabbed as one of the favorites in the DVAL, Coach Hart Fairclough's bunch give every indication as being as strong as last year's championship eleven.

The outweighed Knights jumped off to an early lead when Chris Nakano, Las Lomas halfback scooped up a Red Devil fumble and romped 40 yards unmolested into the end zone. Mike Breuleux's conversion made it 7-0 with seven minutes and 40 seconds left in the first quarter.

LAS LOMAS held this slight lead for most of the remainder of the first half.

Mt. Diablo's offensive thrusts were frustrated with three fumbles that the Knights recovered.

However, with only two minutes and 50 seconds left in the half, Dave Jones, Mt. Diablo fullback, boomed up the middle for 19 yards and the first Red Devil score. The kick by Paul Davis made it 7-7 at intermission.

The Red Devils grabed the lead early in the second half when Mt. Diablo Quarterback Gary Johnson hit Dwain Adams with a 15-yard strike. A recovered fumble on the Las Lomas 19 had set the play up.

Jones, who gives the Devils real power up the middle, then scored on a 69-yard gallop. Jones slammed up the middle, broke past the line of scrimmage, and was home free when a key block cut down Danny Cotlow, the only pursuing Knight left.

Another Las Lomas bobble on their own five yard line set up another Mt. Diablo score. Norris Dahl carried the ball in from the two yard marker.

Martin Wharton, Mt. Diablo halfback, scampered in from the 11 yard line to bring the score to 34-7.

JIM LEONARD picked up the final tally on a 10 yard burst around right end.

Las Lomas, obviously out gunned in the second half, did appear capable of moving the ball on occasion. Knight halfbacks, Nakano and Bruce Salveson were able to run on the big Red Devil defenders.

Mike Breuleux indicated that with any break from his receivers, he can throw effectively.

The game, however, served to point up the differences this year between the two leagues, the FAL and DVAL.

Mt. Diablo, competing against such toughies as Antioch and Clayton Valley, could possibly end up third in its league.

Thus far, on the caliber of play demonstrated by the FAL, Mt. Diablo would easily be the class of that league.

DV Wins; Faces Tough Foe Tonight

By DAVE ANDERSON

The pressure is on tonight as the Del Valle Trojans look for that big No. 3 win against Armijo of Fairfield.

With kickoff time at 8 o'clock on the Acalanes field, this game should be a real test of strength for both teams, so far undefeated this year.

Del Valle, hoping to add Armijo to its list of victims, will have to be "up" for this game and be ready for anything.

So far, the Armijo Indians have won one and tied one, without their 6-4, 200-pound first-string quarterback. He'll be ready for tonight's gridiron combat, however.

Scouting reports on Armijo indicate that they have a rock-ribbed defense that very grudgingly gives up yard, and a team in general about 50 per cent better than usual for their school. It looks like a real tough contest for the Trojans.

LAST WEEK in their 20-6 victory against Albany, Del Valle looked impressive both offensively and defensively.

The offense moved well at all times and kept good control of the ball throughout both halves. The defense was tight all the way, except for the Cougars' lone touchdown drive.

The Trojans picked up 244 yards on the ground while holding Albany to 85.

It must be noted that the majority of the breaks in the game were advantageous to the Trojans.

On the second play, Albany fumbled on their own 10-yard line and Del Valle recovered. Two plays later, Cliff Schroeder surged over for the score from six yards out. Schroeder took the ball again for the extra point.

After an exchange of punts, Del Valle sustained a fine 65-yard drive to pay dirt.

Again Schroeder scored from two yards out. Fullback Mal Cameron swept around right end for the conversion.

IN THE third quarter, Albany unleashed a strong attack in its drive for a touchdown. In that sequence of plays, the Cougars were rolling up big yardage on off-tackle plays. The conversion attempt was missed.

The Trojans then drove 60 yards for their last score, with Bill O'Toole getting off a fine 40-yard gain.

O'Toole took the ball in from 15 yards out to complete the scoring at 20-6.

Coach Jerry Bellon was pleased with the over-all team play.

Foothill Teams To Take Another Beating Tonight?

Del Valle, College Park Are Picked to Win Again

This week five undefeated high school teams are picked to continue on their winning ways by the four members of The Sun's sports staff.

Mt. Diablo is expected to hand Acalanes its third straight defeat, while Clayton Valley is picked to win its third in a row over Las Lomas.

Del Valle and College Park, the schools with the brand new varsity football teams, are picked to win their third straight games.

Miramonte is the choice over Albany for win No. 2 while Pleasant Hill is expected to upend Piedmont, last year's FAL co-champion.

The Editor's Wild Card Pick of the Week is for the St. Louis Cardinals to hand the Philadelphia Eagles, the NFL champs last year, their first loss of the season, 28-27.

Hec Hancock continued his expert prognostications last week as he picked seven winners, but he had to share the limelight this week with two other members of the sports staff.

SPORTS Editor George Colburn was 7-3 also, and he clicked on his "wild card" pick for an 8-3 record over all.

Dave Anderson had seven winners, too.

Roger Jernigan had a disastrous week, picking only three winners as he slipped below the .500 mark for the season.

However, he was the only one to pick College Park to win, so there was some consolation.

Hancock's "gem of the week" was picking Stanford to defeat Tulane.

Besides picking the Detroit Lions to down the Baltimore Colts, Colburn was the only one to pick the Packers to stop the 49ers.

Anderson was the only staff member to pick Miramonte over Pacifica.

Just about everybody was fooled by College Park's second win and Stanford's first win in two seasons. Miramonte's win and the 49ers' loss were the other two consensus mistakes.

THE CONSENSUS (12-8) for the top 10 high school, college and professional games this week are:

Mt. Diablo over Acalanes (4-0). It won't be close.

Clayton Valley over Las Lomas (4-0). The Eagles make it three straight.

Miramonte over Albany (4-0). Win No. 2 for the Matadors.

College Park over San Ramon (3-1). The Falcons continue to surprise.

Del Valle over Armijo (4-0). The Trojans can't wait 'til next year.

Pleasant Hill over Piedmont (3-1). The Rams knock off the "other" FAL champion.

Iowa over California (4-0). No doubt whatsoever.

Oregon State over Stanford (4-0). The Indians' win streak ends at one.

Raiders over Denver (4-0). Everybody's pulling for you, Marty.

Detroit over 49ers (3-1). The Lions are tough this year.

COLBURN (15-7)—Mt. Diablo over Acalanes, 27-6; Clayton Valley over Las Lomas, 26-0; Miramonte over Albany, 13-0; College Park over San Ramon, 19-6; Del Valle over Armijo, 21-6; Pleasant Hill over Piedmont, 20-12; Iowa over California, 28-0; Oregon State over Stanford, 15-13; Raiders over Denver, 35-31; Detroit over 49ers, 21-17.

HANCOCK (15-5)—Mt. Diablo over Acalanes, 34-6; Clayton Valley over Las Lomas, 24-6; Miramonte over Albany, 13-6; College Park over San Ramon, 14-7; Del Valle over Armijo, 13-6; Piedmont over Pleasant Hill, 19-12; Iowa over California, 27-6; Oregon State over Stanford, 22-12; Raiders over Denver, 31-28; Detroit over 49ers, 17-14.

JERNIGAN (19-11) — Mt. Diablo over Acalanes, 30-14; Clayton Valley over Las Lomas, 27-13; Miramonte over Albany, 17-14; College Park over San Ramon, 20-13; Del Valle over Armijo, 14-7; Pleasant Hill over Piedmont, 14-13; Iowa over California, 30-28; Oregon State over Stanford, 27-13; Raiders over Denver, 20-17; 49ers over Detroit, 24-20.

ANDERSON (13-7) — Mt. Diablo over Acalanes, 28-6; Clayton Valley over Las Lomas, 20-7; Miramonte over Albany, 7-6; San Ramon over College Park, 14-6; Del Valle over Armijo, 13-7; Pleasant Hill over Piedmont, 21-13; Iowa over California, 28-6; Oregon State over Stanford, 21-20; Raiders over Denver, 36-20; Detroit over 49ers, 26-20.

Clayton Valley Outclasses San Ramon, 39-7

Greg Ford and Gordon Martindale each scored two touchdowns as Dave Madsen fired three touchdown passes to lead Clayton Valley to a 39-7 romp over visiting San Ramon last Friday afternoon.

The Wolves' hopes for an upset were never given a chance as the Eagles took the opening kickoff and drove 58 yards in 14 plays for their first touchdown.

Ford scored from one yard out.

After taking San Ramon's return punt, the Eagles were off again. Five plays and 45 yards later, the home squad had its second TD. Martindale grabbed a nine-yard pass from Madsen for the six-pointer to boost the Eagles' lead to 12-0 early in the second quarter.

Clyde Mashore added the conversion to make it 13-0.

Two plays after the kickoff, CV fattened its bulge to 20-0 when Ford intercepted a pass and raced 26 yards for the touchdown. Mashore made it 20-0 with his placement.

On the third play of second half, the Wolves fumbled on their own 26.

Martindale got the TD four plays later on a three-yard romp around right end. Terry Cavigilia added the conversion to make it 27-0.

Just three plays later the alert Eagles had the ball again. Ford grabbed off another San Ramon aerial and returned it 43 yards to the Wolves' 11.

Madsen didn't waste any time as he hit Caviglia for the score. Mashore's conversion attempt was blocked.

The struggling Wolves finally got a drive going late in the third quarter.

They moved 68 yards in 12 plays with Mike Mivelaz doing most of the work.

He finally plunged over from the one for the visitors' lone TD.

Kit Carson added the extra point.

The Eagles got the TD back in a hurry. They took the following kickoff and marched 63 yards for their sixth touchdown of the afternoon.

Madsen fired his third six-point strike of the day when he heaved a 16-yarder to Bill Weldon.

Where Were You!

WHERE WERE YOU?—Acalanes Coach Buzz Williams is getting a few things straightened out with defensive back E. J. Emerson (40) following a Pleasant Hill pass that went for a touchdown. The Rams completed eight of 12 passes, three of which went for second half touchdowns. Standing to the left of Williams is Quarterback Warren Fox. Sun photo by Bob Rush.

Pleasant Hill Smashes Hapless Acalanes, 32-0

Pleasant Hill, unable to do much against a hard-nosed Acalanes line in the first half, exploded through the air in the second half for a 32-0 win last Friday night in Pleasant Hill.

The Rams' only score in the opening 24 minutes came on a 45-yard dash by quarterback Nelson Shelton midway through the opening period.

Shelton faked a handoff in the backfield, kept the ball himself and raced down the right sidelines without being touched as the Dons' defensive unit was completely fooled.

Tom Foster banged over for the extra point and Pleasant Hill led, 7-0.

THE DONS had a golden opportunity to tie the game late in the second quarter when a bad pass from center on a punt situation gave them the ball on the Pleasant Hill 29.

The Dons managed one first down to the 18, but that was as far as they could get.

The second half was all Pleasant Hill as the Dons could not move the ball.

The Rams took the opening kickoff and scored in just four plays with Shelton hitting halfback Jim Stephenson with a perfect pass for the touchdown.

The play covered 50 yards as Stephenson got behind three Acalanes defenders and caught the perfect toss on the 10.

Only two minutes had elapsed in the third quarter as Dave Clark was halted trying for the extra point.

Throughout the rest of the third quarter and into the fourth the Dons fought a losing battle deep in their own end of the field.

The Rams didn't score again until midway through the final period with the Shelton to Stephenson combination clicking for the TD.

After moving to the Acalanes' nine-yard line, Shelton pitched to Stephenson all alone in the left flat and he rambled in for the six-pointer.

Shelton's conversion attempt was blocked and it was 19-0 with 7:11 left in the game.

Following the kickoff, the Rams benefited from an Acalanes miscue.

On third down at the 19, fullback Mike Hallock fumbled and Clark was "Johnny on the Spot."

He picked up the bouncing football and raced into the end zone before the Dons knew what happened.

This time Shelton's PAT attempt was good and it was 26-0.

Acalanes wasn't through making mistakes, however.

The Dons couldn't move following the kickoff and were forced into a punt situation deep in their own territory. The pass from center was high and the Rams recovered on the three.

Two plays later Stephenson scored his third touchdown of the night to make the final score 32-0.

Four More Inter-League Battles This Evening

By GEORGE COLBURN
Sports Editor

Foothill Athletic League members Acalanes, Las Lomas and San Ramon will try their luck against members of the Contra Costa Division of the Diablo Valley Athletic League again tonight after lopsided defeats to CCD teams last week.

Acalanes, 1960 FAL co-champion, invades the stronghold of Mt. Diablo, the 1960 CCD champion tonight while Las Lomas entertains the high-flying Clayton Valley Eagles and San Ramon hosts surprising College Park.

In other games of local interest, Albany visits Miramonte this afternoon, Del Valle seeks win number three at Acalanes tonight, and Pleasant Hill hosts Piedmont, the other 1960 FAL co-champion.

The CCD teams showed their power last week as they won four of the five games with FAL teams. Overall, they are 5-2 with the FAL this season.

Mt. Diablo blasted Las Lomas with a second half blitz, 41-7, Pleasant Hill rolled over hapless Acalanes, 32-0, College Park startled Alhambra, 31-6, and Clayton Valley routed San Ramon, 39-7.

MIRAMONTE saved face for the Foothill League by defeating Pacifica, 26-7.

Tonight there are four inter-league struggles on tap.

Games Today

Acalanes at Mt. Diablo, 8 p.m.
Clayton Valley at Las Lomas, 8 p.m.
Albany at Miramonte, 3:30 p.m.
College Park at San Ramon, 8 p.m.
Armijo (Fairfield) at Del Valle (at Acalanes), 8 p.m.
Piedmont at Pleasant Hill, 8 p.m.

And it would seem the Foothill League is in for another thrashing tonight.

Acalanes, a two-time loser that hasn't scored a touchdown, will have to improve rapidly to even give Mt. Diablo a battle.

In two previous games against CCD teams, the Dons were whitewashed—27-0 to Clayton Valley and 32-0 to Pleasant Hill.

The Dons have been unable to move the ball at all this season. New coach Buzz Williams will probably be glad to start league play after tonight's game.

Although Clayton Valley, Mt. Diablo and Pleasant Hill are expected to do well in their own league, Antioch is supposed to do better and unseat the Red Devils as champion.

Las Lomas, playing the same three teams as Acalanes, was fortunate to defeat Pleasant Hill in its first game and the Knights will probably be glad when the non-league season ends also.

The Eagles, sporting two big wins over FAL teams, are expected to add Las Lomas to their list of victims tonight.

CLAYTON VALLEY has outscored its first two opponents, 66-7.

Mt. Diablo, playing its first game of the season, took a while to get started against the Knights last week, but once they did there was no stopping them.

The Knights have had a hard time moving the ball against Pleasant Hill and Mt. Diablo and have scored just two touchdowns in two games.

In Danville tonight, San Ramon will be seeking its first win in two seasons, while College Park hopes to remain undefeated.

In their first season of varsiy football competition, the Falcons have surprised everybody with two impressive wins. College Park has scored 50 points (seven touchdowns) and given up only 13 points in the two games.

The Falcons would like another win tonight before starting CCD league play.

The Pleasant Hill team is expected to finish way down the list this season, but they just might continue to surprise.

San Ramon started the season in impressive style with a 7-7 deadlock against Livermore.

Last week, however, the Wolves were no match for Clayton Valley.

A win tonight, after losing eight last year, would give the young San Ramon team a big boost before starting FAL league play.

The CP-SR game might well be the most interesting one on tonight's schedule.

Pleasant Hill will be attempting to knock off the other half of the Foothill League's co-champions when they host Piedmont.

THE CLAN lost its opening game last Friday, 32-20, against Hayward.

Hayward overcame a 7-0 halftime deficit with 19 points in the third quarter. All three Piedmont touchdowns were the result of Steve Hogan's passes.

The Rams lost a tough one-point decision to Las Lomas, but retaliated by blasting Acalanes last week.

The Rams have a good field general in Nelson Shelton, good power in fullback Tom Foster and speed in halfbacks Dave Clark, Dave West and Jim Stephenson.

Tonight's game will probably be decided by how good or how bad the Pleasant Hill line performs.

The Ram backs weren't able to go through the Dons as much as they would have liked. They found it much easier to pass or run the ends.

Piedmont's strength this season is unknown at the present, but they are known to be rebuilding.

At Miramonte this afternoon, the Matadors entertain Albany, a team that became Del Valle's second victim of the season last week.

THE MATS opened their season with a slight surprise when they defeated Pacifica, an also-ran in the CCD last year, but expected to do better this year.

If the Matadors play the brand of ball they exhibited last week, they should be able to get by the Cougars, who were soundly defeated by the young Del Valle team.

As has been the case in the first two games, Del Valle goes against a team of unknown quality tonight when they host Armijo of Fairfield.

The all-junior Trojans, with two good performances behind them, will be favored to win No. 3 tonight.

DV College Opens with 10-6 Win

Diablo Valley College opened its 1961 football season with a 10-6 non-league win over Contra Costa College, its sister school from San Pablo, Saturday night at the Pleasant Hill High School field.

The Vikings overcame a 6-3 halftime deficit, then held off a late scoring threat by the Comets to record their fourth straight win over the past two seasons.

Last year, Contra Costa defeated the Vikings in the first meeting between the two schools, 14-6.

With three minutes to play in the game, the Comets moved to the five-yard line, but the Vikings dug in, stopped the Comets, took over on downs and then ran out the clock.

FORMER Acalanes Quarterback Tom Strain put the Vikings on the scoreboard in the opening period when he kicked a 14-yard field goal. A fumble gave the locals the ball deep in Comet territory.

The Comets scored their only touchdown with just 35 seconds left in the half.

John Adams finished off a 65-yard, 15-play drive with a two-yard plunge that gave the visitors their halftime advantage.

Another Comet fumble led to the winning touchdown.

Strain grabbed this one on the Contra Costa 32.

Pete Demos covered the last eight yards of the drive on a sweep of right end to put the Vikes back in the lead. Strain added the conversion to close out the scoring.

Diablo Valley travels to Santa Rosa Junior College next Friday night for its second and final non-league game of the season.

Built-Ins May Be Your Storage Space Answer

Big home or little home, large household or small, there is hardly a family that can say it has adequate storage space. The lack may be general—from attic to the basement—or it may be confined mainly to certain rooms, such as kitchen, bathroom, or family room.

Lumber and lumber paneling are ideal for creating built-ins to correct the lack of storage facilities, for lumber will fit into any decorative scheme and it is economical and easy to work with. This is especially true of softwoods and some of the most readily available are the species that grow in the western pine region.

Built-ins naturally should be appropriate to the room. This sounds elementary, but it takes some planning and forethought to work out the sort of built-ins that will do the best job in a specific situation.

For example, storage space in a kitchen should be co-ordinated with work areas. Drawers and cabinets should be planned to hold heavy equipment below counters and cupboards to contain lighter items should go above. Consideration should be given, too, to space for mixers, toasters, blenders and other small appliances that a housewife may not wish to keep out all the time.

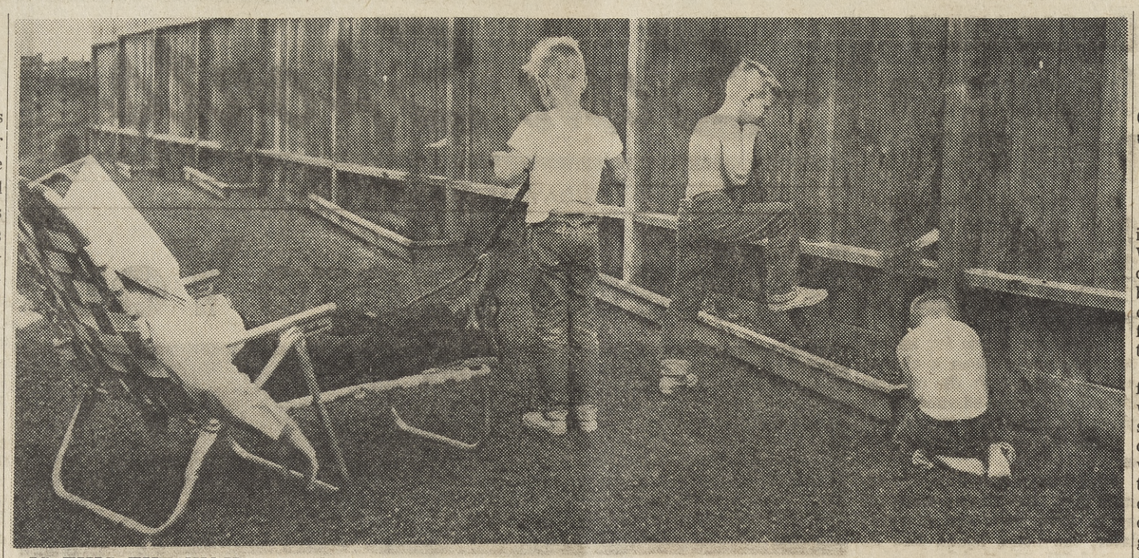
In a bathroom—even in a small one—there usually is space to box in the area under the basin. This will provide room for towels, extra soap and bathroom tissue,, and perhaps also for bulkier things such as hot water bottles. If the bathroom is fairly good-sized, then cabinets may be built on the wall to hold these supplies, medicines and other necessities.

A family room, of course, can provide storage space for myriad belongings. These may include movie and slide projection equipment, card tables and game supplies, hobby materials, and radio-phonograph equipment. Space also might be set aside in this room to display a collection of old china and glass, athletic trophies, or, perhaps, prized examples of photography.

The storage wall is another concept that works in many rooms and will provide a great deal of varied storage space.

It is most useful, perhaps, in a child's bedroom, where a wardrobe closet arrangement will hold both hanging and folded clothing, and drawers or even bins can be utilized for sports equipment and toys.

However, it can be used almost anywhere to advantage. These built-in units can be designed to cover a whole wall and will save space often occupied by furniture.



IS THIS THE WAY to garden or isn't it! When you have a weekend off from the office, who wants to spend time pulling weeds! This local homeowner really has it made, providing the child welfare authorities don't catch up with him. Mother was smart. She stayed out of the picture entirely.

Simple Rules Stressed For Building In Hi-Fi

A built-in high-fidelity music system can be an important part of your remodeling plans, and it's no trick to install.

"If you select the best components you can afford, a built-in hi-fi system gives you all the beauty and enjoyment of good music with the utmost in convenience," according to engineers of a leading maker of hi-fi components.

They recommend these rules to guide you:

If you presently have hi-fi components, skip this part. But if you're starting out, the basic components are an amplifier, a record changer or turntable, a tone arm with a magnetic cartridge (the component that holds the needle), and a speaker—two speakers if you have a stereo system. You can also add a radio tuner to bring in AM or FM broadcasts.

Lay them out in approximately the location they'll be in when you build them in, then hook them up. Determine if the layout sounds good and is convenient. This is especially important with stereo.

Speakers can be mounted in cabinets which can stand on the floor or be hung from the wall. Or if a true built-in look is what you want, you can install speakers in recesses in the walls or ceiling. If you do this, make sure the recess is properly insulated and baffled. Your high-fidelity dealer can give you specific information on this subject. He can also provide the grill cloth to cover the wall or ceiling opening.

If you plan on additional speakers in other rooms of the house, make sure the wires for this are laid in place before the remodeling is complete. Ordinary lamp cord is often sufficient for the hook-up.

Provide for sufficient ventilation for your amplifier and tuner. If the space you put them in is small, air holes or a grilled door should be used to let in enough air. Without ventilation, the heat from the tubes can permamently damage the equipment.

Make sure the components are easily accessible for servicing. You'll need to reach the amplifier and tuner occasionally to replace burned out tubes, or you may wish to hook up additional accessories to the amplifier from time to time.

Build in adequate record storage space. The space should accommodate the records stored upright, preferably in cubbyholes of 12 to 20 records, and should be away from hot water pipes or radiators.

If you install equipment in walls, make sure that studding and bracing are adequate. Don't make the mistake of resting the amplifier, tuner, changer or turntable, and records on unsupported pieces of plywood.

Indoor Gardens Can be Fun

Gardeners who would have some fun indoors can grow certain bulbs in dishes or vases without using soil. Hyacinths can be grown in a "hyacinth" glass, an hour-glass shaped container that permits the bulb to sit just above the water and sends its roots down into it.

Tulips Add Formality To Garden

There's nothing in the garden to match a tulip's dignity. When grown to perfection, it is the very essence of formality, and no amount of plant science has ever bred this quality out of it. Not that any plantsman in the world would ever want to.

If the tulip has any fault at all, it might be a reluctance to let down its hair and go informal. Frankly, however, we like this uncompromising attitude. It's an uncommon commodity in this day and age.

THE CALIFORNIA Association of Nurserymen points out that because of this habit, the tulip is often best planted in beds by itself. If you would soften the formal appearance just a little, try planting pansies or sweet alyssum in the beds over the bulbs. If you would enhance the formality, plant the bulbs closely together and forget the cover crop of annuals.

The California climate is not a tulip's idea of ideal growing conditions. Our mild winters and unusually balmy springs tend to force top growth from the bulbs before they have really established a good root system. The result is often too few roots to support a tall stem and full-blown bloom.

IF THIS has happened to you, try deeper planting especially in Southern California) of the bulbs. We've seen experiments with planting depths up to one foot and invariably the size and height of stem and bloom has increased proportionately to the depth.

Another trick if you're seeking true formality from your tulips is to make sure they are all planted at the same depth. We don't know any good way to

Evergreens Provide Color

Overlooked by many gardeners who seek cutting material for the house are the decorative qualities of certain evergreen shrubs and trees. What they lack in flower color, they make up in the bold and showy quality of their foliage.

One of the nice things about greens for cutting is that they are available the year-round. You can only cut annuals when you have them in flower, but the lush green of certain evergreens can provide handsome arrangements in your home 12 months of the year.

AMONG THE California Association of Nurserymen's top favorites for cutting is the English laurel. A handsome, broad leafed shrub in the garden, it provides long lasting arrangements in the house.

For the greens alone, it would be worth planting, but you'll find plenty of use for English laurel in the landscape — as an informal tall screen, a tightly clipped hedge or a specimen in a large container.

Southern magnolia or the smaller St. Mary's magnolia provide handsome glossy leaves whether you cut the platter sized blooms or not.

Others to use for cutting include several euonymus varieties offered by the nurserymen and eucalyptus, especially the silvery, round-leaf forms such as the silver dollar tree, and those that bear the gaudy seed pods for cutting with the foliage. are highly decorative, and what better reason for planting them Conifers—notably the junipers—than to cut some holiday greens? You'll find many more in your CAN nursery that will fit into your own garden.

Your Garden

Seasonal Shrubs Can Provide You Color

The onrush of fall often lacks impact in California gardens. We gardeners notice a certain quickening of the climatic pulse, but the change is often imperceptible to our shrubs. Only a few of them color up to match the season.

It is always a pleasure, therefore, to discover certain shrubs which do put on a seasonal show. And it should be the aim of every gardener to use them where he can. The following three are specially recommended by the California Association of Nurserymen. They are Oregon grape, heavenly bamboo and Chinese photinia.

OREGON GRAPE is perhaps less adapted to southern California than it is to the northern counties. Gardeners in the south should probably plant the very similar California grape. Either is a year-round performer with glossy, holly-like leaves, bright yellow flowers in early spring, blue summer berries and richly red foliage tones in fall.

Oregon grape is an excellent shrub in borders or foundations, used as single specimens or in groupings. Try it with the Darwin barberry, which has similar holly-like leaves and even loes some coloring of its own in fall.

Heavenly bamboo has coppery tones to its foliage the year round, but in fall these give way to brilliant displays of red which combine with its red berries to create one of autumn's most vivid shows.

The farther you live from the coast, the more vivid is the display, but it's one of the season's most colorful anywhere. Use heavenly bamboo in the foundation, the border, or in tubs for close in display.

CHINESE PHOTINIA is another year-round performer, breaking in late spring with large clusters of white flowers that give way to bright red berries in fall. New growth in spring is coppery or red and the whole shrub becomes a bronzed mass in fall.

The shrubs are vigorous, and are best used in backgrounds or in broad, informal screen plantings. Prune to suit your tastes or to keep the shrubs compact, but prune also when you need nice berry color in the house. After all, there's plenty to spare.

Wait for Summer's End Before Planting Bulbs

With most of our better known spring bulbs — daffodils, tulips and hyacinths — September is too early to plant. Best wait until summer is gone for sure and fall's cooler weather has arrived to stay.

With many so-called babies of the bulb family, however, September is none too soon. They thrive on heat and the sooner their growth starts, the better.

Freesias, especially, are best when planted early. Likewise ixias and sparaxis, fellow South Africans that thrive in the warmest weather. And still another South African, the summer-flowering watsonia, should go in at the first opportunity.

IF NONE of these minor bulbs is any more than a name to you, it's high time you met them first hand. They are of the easiest culture, and while not spectacular, have definite charm that grows with the years. Their best effects come from massed plantings of single varieties—the more massed they are, the better.

The modern freesia is a far cry from its original self—hybridized into lovely shades and larger flowers. The fragrance alone is worth the planting, but an edging of freesias can be one of the spring's earliest and most charming sights.

The cheery sparaxis looks like an overgrown freesia or an undergrown gladiolus—take your pick. The flowers are usually bi-colored, but solid colors are not unknown. Shades of yellow, white and red are to be found.

IXIAS ARE not for shaded or sunless gardens, as the cup-like blooms require direct sunlight to open. Thus fog belt gardeners are warned by the California Association of Nurserymen to plant them and pray for good May weather.

There are other spring bulbs outside the big three that can go in this month or next, as you have the time and inclination. Muscari, or grape hyacinth is probably best known and most useful.

When planted en masse—and we really mean massed—they offer lovely rich blues that often come with the freesias in early spring.

Try ringing the base of a tree with them, or using them to define a border. They won't stop traffic on your street, but many a casual passerby will enjoy them along with you.

Persimmon Tree Provides Fruit

The persimmon tree provides fruit for some of fall's most decorative table centerpieces, and at the same time, the tree itself provides a bonus of big brilliant autumn foliage, even in coastal gardens.

Gardeners who have not discovered this fine garden tree should get acquainted. It fits neatly into small gardens and has few demands other than sufficient water, good rich soil.

SANDPAPER STORAGE

Use an old phonograph record album as a storage book for sandpaper and other abrasive sheets. Put each grade of abrasive in a separate sleeve and label so that each one can be quickly located.

FOIL FUNNEL

Use kitchen type aluminum foil to make a funnel when liquids or powders must be poured from large containers into narrow-necked jars.

EASIER PLANING

To ease the job of planing a large hardwood surface, sponge the area lightly with water beforehand. This raises the grain slightly, and gives the edge of the plane a better "bite."

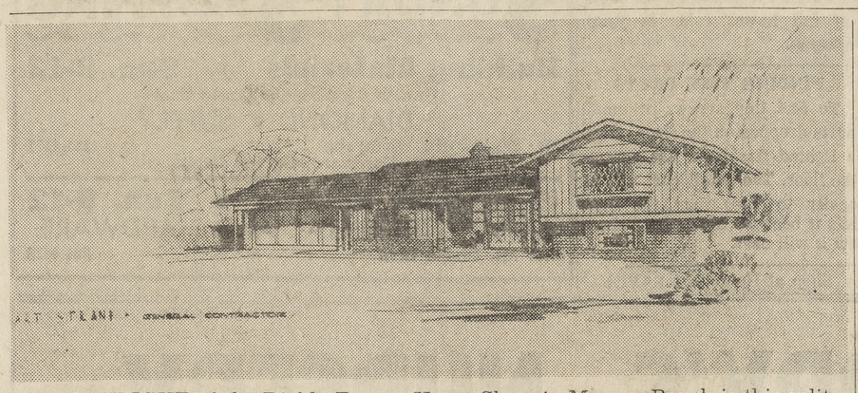
Sun Fall Home, Garden News



A HIGHLIGHT of the Diablo Estates Home Show in Moraga Ranch is this split level four-bedroom ranch house by Arthur I. Strand, builder and chairman of the Home Show group. In the first two weeks of the Diablo Estates Home Show an estimated 10,000 visitors have inspected the seven all new luxury model homes. Show site is on Moraga Way, about five minutes southeast of Orinda.

Crysanthemums Bring Bright Autumn Color

The novice gardener sometimes becomes impatient with chrysanthemums. He sets them out in spring and nurtures them through months of watering, pinching, feeding and disbudding before he finally reaps the harvest of bloom. When the harvest comes, however, he realizes that it is worth all his waiting and then some.

Trouble is, many gardeners forget to plant chrysanthemums at the proper time — or maybe they are just honest enough to admit that they really don't intend to give these plants the care they like. For these many, the California Association of Nurserymen offers solace in the form of potsful of chrysanthemums in full bloom.

THANKS TO hothouse growers, these prolific plants are available in bloom 12 months of the year, but we can be especially thankful for them in this, the chrysanthemum season. Without their bloom in October and November, we'd miss something of fall.

Certainly the color selections include many shades that remind us of the traditional autumn.

Be warned, then, that there's no real excuse for not enjoying colorful mums during the coming weeks. Inside or outside, they are the last word in color for fall.

You can use mums to decorate a deck or to brighten the living room for that post-game party. You can sink them (established in nursery containers) into garden bare spots to pick up the seasonal theme in your landscape. Or you can use them in a lavish centerpiece for the Thanksgiving table. For flower arrangements, their gay long lasting bloom will brighten the house on a dull winter's day.

WHEN THEIR bloom is faded and gone, you can set them out in the garden to grow and bloom another year. And any such future return on your investment is profit, pure and simple. For our money, the pleasure of their company this fall alone is all we can really ask for.

Wallpaper Can Do Wonders for Decor

If you are about to redecorate, keep in mind two major objectives. The first is to bring sparkle and interest to the home, and the second is to keep a look of harmony in the home. No matter how imaginative your ideas are, if they don't jell together, the result will be unsatisfying.

For the unprofessional home decorator this often presents a problem. But there is help at hand, and at no charge. Visit your local wallpaper store and take a look at the sample books there.

You will find in almost every sample book groups of coordinated papers that make a good starting off point for a decorating scheme. Two, three or even four papers are tied together by design or color or mood, or sometimes by all three.

A typical grouping might be a repeat design of a colonial scene in light beige, brown and burnt orange, which could be used effectively in the hall; a small neat documentary pattern in the same three colors, which would look well in the dining room, and a simple embossed texture of beige with slight flecks of brown and burnt orange, which would be a good choice for the living room as a background for the many books and pictures.

This would give both contrast and harmony in three connected areas. Use these ready-made schemes throughout the house wherever you have adjoining rooms to decorate such as bedroom and bathroom, or kitchen and dinette.

These matchmates are not new, but they are now to be found in the popular priced field in many attractive designs of fine quality. They bring unity and distinction to any room.

Where a room has no particular style, either because of different furnishings that don't blend too well or because of too many distracting colors, the use of these matchmates will do a great deal to tie in scattered effects and give harmony to the room.

Trained decorators know how to use what is on the market, and the do-it-yourself decorator too, should use all these built-in aids that are there for the looking. The job will be easier and the results better.

ERASE RUST

Light rust on hand tools or appliances can be removed by rubbing vigorously with a hard typewriter eraser.

Transplant With Care

The stately gerbera, or transvaal daisy, is putting on another show for us this month and blooming plants can often be found ready to transplant from nursery cans. The greatest care should be taken to insure that perfect drainage exists wherever you plant these bog-sensitive perennials.

We shudder to think of the number of transvaal daisies that succumb annually to winter rains simply because they were planted where permanently wet soil covered the crown of the plants.

IMPROVISED "GLOVE"

By slipping your hand in an ordinary small plastic bag you have a waterproof "glove" that can be disposed of after a messy job.

Fall Is Time to Plant Evergreens

Fall is an ideal time to plant native evergreens since the soon-to-follow rains will help get them established and by next spring you can largely ignore them. What many a gardener doesn't realize is that natives are not used to attention, and too much kindness can kill them. At the start, they take moisture, but after the first few months they can usually take it or leave it alone.

LEVEL CHECK

You can improvise a "level" from an ordinary glass measuring cup which has markings on both sides. If the cup is filled with water to any one of the marks, it will show that the surface is level when the water contacts the mark on all sides of the cup.

"Doc" Cha-Kem-Co says:

IT'S THE WORMS— NOT THE MOTHS— THAT DAMAGE LAWNS

THEY ARE EASILY CONTROLLED WITH

CHLOR-THANE SPRAY CONCENTRATE

The familiar lawn moth seen in mass flights over lawns at dusk is actually dropping eggs too small to be seen on grass.

Eggs hatch into tiny worms in 3 to 5 days, but do little damage for the first few days.

Larvae grow larger and tougher to kill as they get older.

Worms hide in soil during daytime, but come out at night to feed on lawn, causing brown spots.

For Easy, Fast and Long Lasting CONTROL

APPLY CHLOR-THANE SPRAY CONCENTRATE: 1 pint in 20 gallon hose applicator per 2400 sq. ft. Repeat at 6 week intervals.

At the same time with the same dilution spray open ground and shrubbery for fast kill of Ants, Fleas, Cutworms, Earwigs, Sowbugs, Aphis, and any other "bug" in the garden. Especially recommended for Cutworms and Japanese Beetles in Dichondra.

For fast green up and rapid root development of injured lawns, apply

Paneling Is Now Easier for Your Home Handyman

Paneling a room in wood is a lot easier than it used to be, and there is no room in the house where wood paneling doesn't fit in with most furnishings.

About 35 native tree species produce lumber suitable for paneling. Each contains several variations in color and grain pattern, so you have literally hundreds of different decorative effects to choose from.

Before installing your paneling, make certain it is conditioned adequately for interior use. The wood has been thoroughly dried at the mill, but interim changes in weather may have altered its moisture content. Store the wood in the room you're going to panel for 7-10 days before using it.

If you are paneling a masonry wall, attach 1x2-inch furring strips to the existing surface first. Place them two feet apart and use masonry nails for the fastenings. The strips should run at right angles to the longest dimension of your paneling—that is, horizontally in the case of boards laid vertically; vertically for boards laid horizontally.

If you are covering a plaster wall, first step is to locate the studs underneath. Note where the nailheads are in the base molding; they are undoubtedly anchored in the studs. If this procedure doesn't work, tap the wall and then drill small holes at those points where you get a "solid" sound. A magnetic "stud finder" is helpful.

With horizontal paneling, each board may be attached directly through the plaster to the studs. Vertical paneling may be attached to horizontal furring strips, which have been nailed previously to the studs at 2-foot intervals. The same procedure applies if you've built a new room partition as part of your project and want to panel it. Here, of course, since the studs are exposed, they don't have to be prelocated.

Wood paneling can be anchored to studs or furring strips with either metal clips or nails. If you buy boards with grooved edges, adjoining pieces will overlap and hide the nails. Use finishing nails when it's necessary to go through from the face of the board. Drive the nails in below the surface with a nail set and then cover the spot with putty or tinted filler.

It is not always possible to install paneling that will fill in the space between floor and ceiling lines exactly. Therefore, you might consider base moldings that cover the gaps produced and enhance the beauty of the paneling.

Three kinds of natural finishes are possible. One is transparent surface film (varnish) and usually changes the color of the wood only slightly. A second type consists of a stain to color the wood and accentuate or mask grain patterns followed by a clear surface coating. A third type of finish is semi-transparent and contains a masking pigment. It is usually of the penetrating type.

COIL SPRING RACK

Small tools can be stored and kept visible with a rack made out of a coil spring. When the spring is stretched horizontally between two nails on the wall, the tools may be shoved between the individual coils. The tension of the spring will hold them in place.

Shop Now for Blooming Bulbs

Shop now for spring blooming bulbs while supply is good. You can set them out at your leisure, but buy while all varieties are available.

Disbud camellias which have set too many buds. It's best to do it now before the shrubs channel any more energy into unwanted buds.

Spray dahlias, tuberous begonias and roses if you see the slightest sign of mildew.

Plant seedling perennials from nursery flats. Divide established perennials such as primroses and phlox which have formed crowded clumps.

Shop for blooming chrysanthemums to make up for lack of fall flower color in your garden.

FINDING TINY PARTS

To find tiny screws or small parts dropped on the floor, place a lighted flashlight flat against the floor. The small part will be easier to find when the light hits it because of the long shadow it will cast.

Matador's Victory Adds Gaiety to Welcome Dance

By ANN LINCOLN and KITTY MIKA

Last Friday afternoon Miramonte's team walked all over Pacifica's with a final score of 26 to 7. All the boys played a terrific game, but there was one player that outshone them all . . . the 12th man, of course.

The students filled the stands to overflowing and yelled so loud that they were probably heard in the crossroads. Hearty congratulations are in order for our overwhelmingly enthusiastic cheerleaders. Some people like Tara Doty and Marc Jacobs yelled until they were hoarse.

Gordon Hetche entertained matadors at the welcome dance last Friday night at Miramonte. Name tags given out at the door helped everyone get acquainted. It seems a little mixup occurred, though, when Kit Harnett was tagged as Herman and Roger McCosker as Lover. There was quite an assortment of odd-named people on the dance floor that night.

OUR WONDERFUL football players had pretty sore shoulders after leaving the dance . . . mainly because of all the congratulatory back-pattings they had received throughout the night. Some Miramonteans enjoying themselves were Ron Kay and Joanne Warner, Nancy Englehard and Mike McQuaid, Linnet Trefts and Steve Miller, Tom Gaffaney and Sue Brown, Toni Aires and Rick Merriam.

Before the dance Kathy Adams entertained about 20 frosh girls with a dinner party. The girls attending were Mary Bartlett, Chris Romer, Kathy Cole, Linda Rice, Diane Angel, Judy Zimmerlin, Ellen Flagg, Lani Freeman, Susan Boyd, Mimi McGah and Candy Bray. They had quite a time trying to fit them all in two cars to go to the dance.

The thrills and excitement of the Walnut Festival last weekend attracted practically the whole student body. Brad Peters, Bruce Nickerson and Bobbie Williams looked pretty dizzy as they stumbled from the Round-Up. The 'Bullet (sound wicked, well it is!) had Sue Fernsten, Lana Dressler, Barbie Reynolds and Mimi Loomis turning green.

TOGETHERNESS was the first word to come to mind when seeing Mike Saputo, Dick Sutliffe and Kit Harnett on the Scrambler. John Reilly, Skip Spaich, Greg Peterson and Roger Howard couldn't get away from that game ringing money. All Mike Chance seemed interested in was his Corn-on-the-Cob.

Kathy Grah, Sandy Larson and Leslie Reid were fascinated by that crazy high diver who did a "one-and-a-half" off a 110-foot board into a flaming pool of water. The operator of the rocko-plane was a little upset when Keith Hopkins, Steve Gentry, Clark Thompson and Greg Fields decided to come in upside-down. Randy Dunn, Joyce Thompson, Robin Smith and Jim Tonanbar have decided they can never look at an Octopus again.

Miramonte's pom-pon girls and cheerleaders marched in the Walnut Festival's big parade Sunday afternoon.

THE SENIOR LAWN looked like a Sunday afternoon lawn party a week or so ago when the senior boys decided they wanted to be comfortable. Some of those bringing their deck chairs and chaise lounges were Mike McGuire, Paul McChesney, Brad Harlan, Rich Bedayn, Ron Jouthas and Jake Jacobsen.

The Oakland Raiders will be cheered on to victories this year by their now pom-pon girls, Cheri Romer, Wendy Wilcox, Mare Jacobs, Carolyn Coburn, Kathy Cole, Mary Baker, Kitty Mika and Karen Stafford.

The Dianas are finally getting sweatshirts, so watch out for big forest green D's on the backs of white sweatshirts.

THE AILANTHUS are sponsoring a work day Saturday, so if anyone needs any odd jobs done around the house a call to CL 4-8595 or CL 4-2940. Donations go to the Children's Hospital.

The Bobbies are selling refreshments at the new home show out by Miramonte. The proceeds will go to pay for a little boy's hospital treatments.

Save your dirty cars for the sophomores' car wash in the Crossroads tomorrow afternoon!

The new freshman class officers are as follows: Nelson Anderson, president; Laird Perry, vice-president; Linda Rice, secretary; Judy Zimmerlin, treasurer.

Friday night at La Val's Villa, the Untouchables will be featured at their big dance and show from 9 to 1. Everybody be sure to come!!!

ATTRACTIVE AFS student, Elisabeth Davidson from Sweden, poses for the cameraman, Lee Taylor, with her "host parents" and "adopted sisters," from the left first row: Wendy and Linda Jones and back row: Mrs. Dorothy Jones, Elisabeth and Shepard Jones. The Jones and their daughters will be Elisabeth's "family" for the coming school year. The Jones live in Orinda.

Elizabeth M. Smith of 36 Las Vegas Road is enrolled in the second annual Counseling and Guidance Institute at the University of Southern California.

The one-year program offered by the USC School of Education provides 30 units of graduate credit and is given in cooperation with the U. S. Office of Education and the National Defense Education Act.

Participants were required to have had at least two years of secondary teaching experience and be currently employed in classroom teaching.

I. V. Parents 'Go Back to School' Wed.

Inland Valley Intermediate Parents' Club plans only three meetings this year. All three programs have been based on either curricula information or student accomplishments in orchestra, choral student government, clubs and special activities.

According to Mrs. Edward Patterson, vice-president and program chairman, the first meeting will be Wednesday, in the auditorium at Inland Valley. Starting promptly at 8 p.m., parents will meet the entire faculty, hear a brief talk by W. G. Gaskell, principal, on the curricula and student activities.

At the sound of the bell, parents will travel to their child's first class, meet the teacher, hear the class aims and then on the ringing of the school bell will proceed to the next class.

All parents are asked to bring their child's group number with them, so they may follow his general program. Mrs. Patterson stressed the importance of being on time that this routine will work smoothly and all parents will be on their way home by 9:30 p.m.

Other members of the L. V. Intermediate School Parents' Club Board planning an active year are: Mrs. John Roberts, president; Mrs. Robeson Smith, recording secretary; Ronald Myers, treasurer, and Reid Fairchild, corresponding secretary.

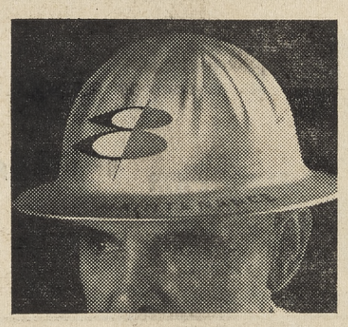
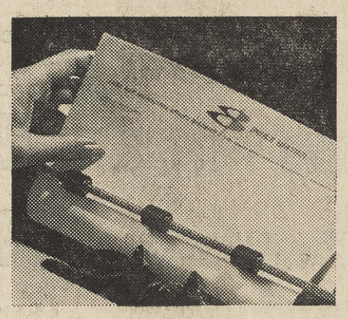
Miss Stahle is a graduate of the University of California, and holds a bachelor of arts degree. She was a member of Alpha Delta Pi Society.

There's a new symbol for pure water

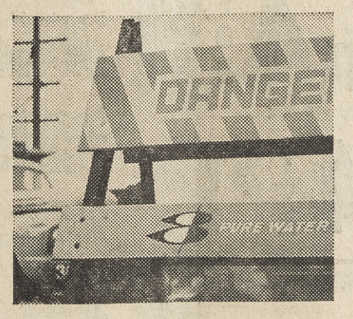


You'll see our new emblem everywhere. For example, it's the latest style in "hard hats" among the heads-up men on your EAST BAY WATER TEAM.

Trucks, too, will carry the emblem that means EAST BAY WATER is on the move, providing modern, efficient service around the clock.



We've redesigned our stationery to keep our letters just as up-to-the-minute as our pumping plants and filtration equipment.



Wherever you see this EAST BAY WATER symbol, we hope it will remind you of the sparkling, pure water that comes from your faucet.

The emblem above is a brand new symbol for the East Bay Municipal Utility District. It's part of our never-ending effort to make sure that everything in your EAST BAY WATER system—from the pumps and filters right on down to the business letterheads—is clean, modern, and efficient.

You'll be seeing a lot of the new EAST BAY WATER emblem in coming weeks. On reservoirs, on buildings, on trucks. You'll see it, too, whenever we report to you on the progress of your $283-million Water Development Program.

BARN!!!
Want to start with a barn on 2.6 acres? It's a great big 700-sq.-foot room built like a rock and never used as a barn. The owner changed his mind about owning horses. This building is in excellent repair, 5 years old, has running water and electricity, and could be the focal point of your new home. It would be a glorious 18x36 living room, or smaller rooms, depending on your artistic and designing ability. There's a wood-fenced corral and walnut trees. This is a great bargain at $15,500. Hurry, as this type of thing is in great demand and very hard to find.
